

Supplementary Figures and Tables

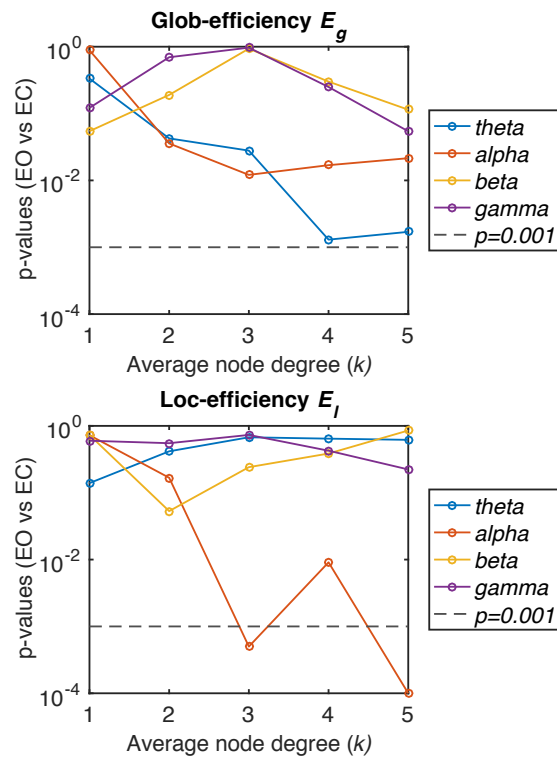

Figure S1: Statistical differences for global- and local-efficiency across different threshold values. p -values result from permutation t-tests between EO and EC conditions. Thresholds are shown as a function of the average node degree k . Five representative values have been selected for the sake of simplicity. $k = 3$ corresponds to the ECO criterion.