

Figure S4

Supplementary Figure S4 Chickens in wholesale markets are usually housed in cages made of bamboo and rope as shown. The chickens that are to be distributed to retail markets typically do not have access to a common food or water source. Once chickens are moved to retail markets, they are housed in multistory wire cages with a continuous supply of food and water.