

Additional file 6. Histogram of GO classifications for litchi leaf transcriptome.

The unigenes were assigned to three main categories: biological process, cellular component, and molecular function. The left and right-hand y-axes indicate the percentage and number of annotated unigenes respectively.