	A : Demographics	B: 8.1. Perceived consequen ces of web search	C: 8.2. Reasons for or against Web use	D: 8.3. Search strategies	E : 8.4. What prompted the online resear ch
: 01_082_2 Web use = Web was used	female patient, 84 years, widowed, secondary education, ex	read she had a feeling it would be lung cancer. So none of what they were told came as a surprise. However she was	to help her mother. But it did 'scare her stiff'. She stopped going online when they started the treatment because now they have	Google because she thought that's where the pain was. She searched	for something she could do to help her mother. She was initially prompted by the shoulder pain
: 01_101 Web use = Web was used	married, secondary school, retired, ex smoker, Web user	elimination but this did not help her get to a conclusion, she did not feel like she had an idea what it could be after her	part of her life and she thinks it is fantastic. It's how she accesses any information. She feels like you	health professionals. She also
: 01_149_2 Neb use = Web was used	(01_149), male, 62 years, retired, GCSE or equivalent, ex smoker,	before seeing a doctor, she (wife) and the patient concluded after their online research that his symptoms were related to his smoking cessation	ask and to make herself aware of potentially relevant questions.	night sweats, being awake at night,	Pre help-seeking: He stopped smoking just before the symptoms occurred so this prompted her to look for the symptoms in conjunction with stopping smoking. She is a libratian and therefore experienced and therefore experienced and the other patient) had an x-ray and