A STUDY ABOUT HIV TESTING

Young Black men and Transwomen in the U.S. are affected by HIV at severely disproportionate rates. A significant proportion of this population have not tested in the prior year and are much more likely to be unaware of their HIV infection compared to other young men.

All About Me is a research study designed to address low HIV testing rates among this group.

If you are interested in telling us what you think about the health needs, HIV testing, and prevention in your community take our online survey!
