

Supplementary information, Figure S6 The surface contour of UraA dimer shown as electrostatic potential.

The extracellular surface has a larger area than the intracellular side. The intracellular surface is enriched of positive charged residues, observing the “positive-inside” rule for integral membrane proteins.