

Figure S2. View of a wood cage fitted around the experimental part of the stem with a male and a female pine weevils (Hylobius abietis) confined inside the cage. This example corresponds to the combination of natural sunlight treatment on insect (cage with transparent lateral acrylic sheets) and darkness on the plant (black polyethylene bag covering the plant above and below the experimental part of the stem).