

Description of Additional Supplementary Files

File Name: Supplementary Movie 1

Description: The video shows real-time demultiplexing of two independent data channels, containing two different television broadcasts. As the receiver is moved between two different angular positions, the signal displayed on the monitor switches between the two demultiplexed channels. This demonstrates the long-term stability and error-free operation of the demux device.