

S1 Fig. Anatomic sites of obstruction of the lacrimal drainage apparatus. The most common site of obstruction was nasolacrimal duct (n=42), followed by punctum (n=15) and canaliculus (n=13); 15 patients had the obstruction at two or more levels simultaneously.