

Supplemental Figure 2. Unsupervised principal component analysis (PCA) of fetal forebrain RNA-seq data did not cluster by exposure when sexes were analyzed together (A). However, when separated out by sex males clustered according to exposure group (C) while females did not (B).