

Supporting Information for:

Packaged and free STMV RNA genomes adopt distinct conformational states

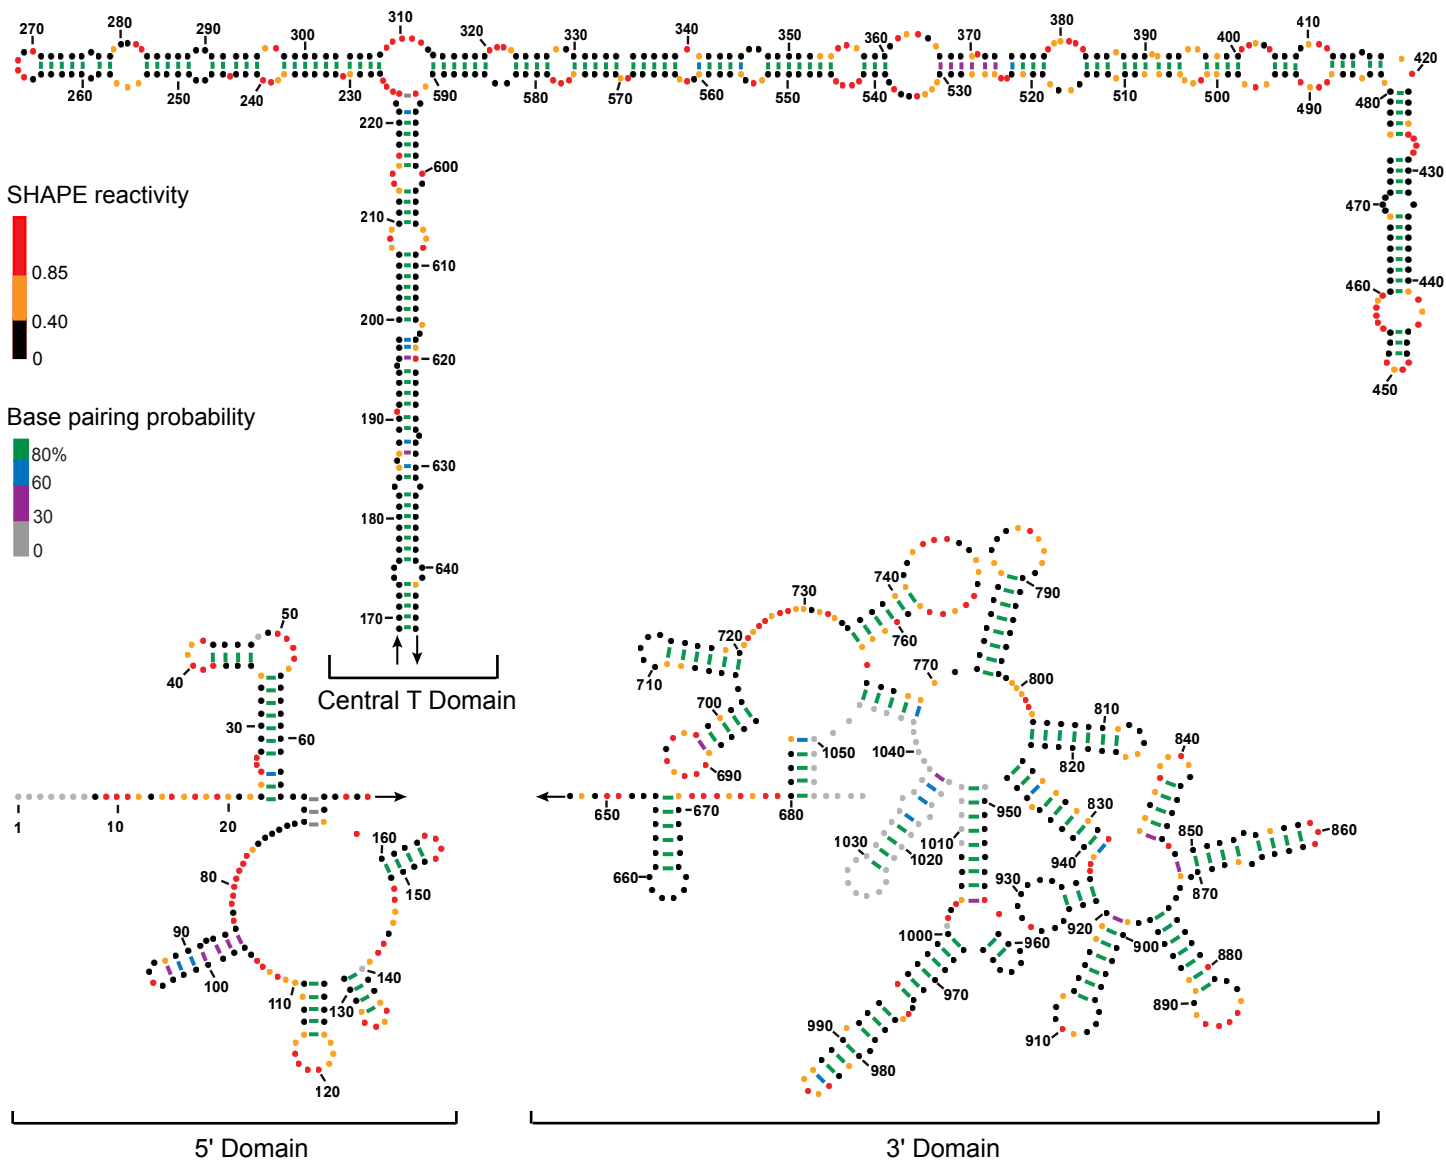

Bridget C. Larman[†], Elizabeth A. Dethoff and Kevin M. Weeks*

Department of Chemistry, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3290

[†] University of North Carolina Undergraduate Transcriptome Project

* correspondence, weeks@unc.edu

Figure S1. Secondary structure model for the capsid-free STMV RNA genome. Nucleotides are colored by SHAPE reactivity; black, orange, and red represent low, moderate, and high reactivities, respectively. Lines indicating base pairs are colored by base pair probability (legend). Nucleotides with no SHAPE data are colored grey.

Supplemental Figure 1