Supplementary methods

Comorbidity was measured using co-occurrence based measures, the relative risk (RR) and phi-correlation (Φ) [1,2]. RR is expressed as the ratio between the actual observed number of patients with both diseases (C_{COPD,DG_i}) and the random expectation to see both disease appear together in the population (denominator):

$$RR_{COPD,DG_i} = \frac{C_{COPD,DG_i}}{P_{COPD} P_{DG_i}/N}$$

where C_{COPD,DG_i} is the number of cases affected by both COPD and the *i*th DG, P_{COPD} and P_{DG_i} denotes the patients with COPD and DG_i , respectively, in a population size N.

The Φ-correlation expresses the Pearson correlation coefficient for binary variables, i.e. between the COPD and disease group occurrences:

These two measures are complementary to each other as both have biases when estimating relationship strength, such that RR overestimates relationships of low prevalence diseases and underestimates the relation of highly prevalent diseases, whereas Φ can underestimate highly associated diseases with different prevalence.

Supplementary figures

Table S3. Comorbidity risk in the CHSS and Medicare datasets. Phicorrelation coefficiten (Φ) and relative risk (RR) with 99.99% confidence intervals (CI) are shown for the two healthcare systems. DGs in the two datasets were compared using t-test. Significance was indicated as *p<0.0001. Excluded DGs are shown with the filtering criteria in the Exclusion criteria column at the bottom of the table.
