(a)

(b)

Figure S1. All the repeat pairs (886,982) evaluated for recombination in our study. The large number of repeats is due to numerous repeats that are partially overlapping with each other in Nymphaea mitochondrial genome. (a). The curve graph shows repeat distribution pattern on sequence identity. (b). The curve graph shows repeat distribution pattern on sequence length.