

S1 Fig. Original full size western blot images use to construct Fig.1C are shown along with the antibodies and fluorescent channels used to detect target proteins. Note that that the same blot was probed and detected in different channels. The regions of the blots selected for construction of Fig 1C are indicated with a red dashed line.