

Figure S3: Correlation between the optimization-based parameters across 27 patients. Majority of the parameters were not correlated with each other (Bonferroni-adjusted p < 1e-5) at low correlation values (absolute correlation < 0.5). Our result suggests that the metabolic load and the cell death sensitivity are not constrained together when tuning the model parameters across virtual patients.