Figure. S12: Statistical enrichment analysis for the overlapping between the binding sites of the hub region with the non-hubs (AR/ERG binding with similar chip intensity profile). We computed the p-value using hypergeometric test, assuming the percentage of overlapping with hub region is the same as the percentage of overlapping with the non-hub regions. The fold change enrichment was computed as ratio between those two percentages of overlapping.