APPENDIX S12. The patterns of the environmental covariate gradients of the data (shaded) are visible as used to predict richness (isolines) of saprotrophic fungi in central to northern Europe. All values are scaled. Lower values are lighter, grading to higher values that are darker.