

Fig. S1 Graphical representation of pedigree of apple accessions used for development of experimental populations. Apples shown in red are susceptible to Alternaria blotch. Underlined apples are used as crossing parents for experimental populations.