

Additional file 1. Distribution of the differences between the predicted value and the true value of all sites.

The sites consist of hyper, hypo and mid groups. The distribution of the overall error is mainly concentrated around 0.1, indicating that MRCNN gives a precise regression of genome-wide methylation.

