

Supplemental Fig. 1. Arylesterase (A) and lactonase (B) activities measured in a subsample of women and men with a similar concentration of HDL cholesterol (below 50 mg/dl). Within this subset, both PON1 activities were higher in women than in men ($p < 0.001$). The bars represent the mean \pm SE.