

Supporting Information

Hybrid nanocomposite as a chest wall graft with improved integration by adipose-derived stem cells

Johanna Buschmann, Ph.D.^{*#1}, Yoshito Yamada, M.D.^{#2}, Konstantin Schulz-Schönhagen^{#3}, Samuel C. Hess, Ph.D.³, Wendelin J. Stark, Ph.D.³, Christine Opelz², Gabriella Meier Bürgisser¹, Walter Weder, M.D.², Wolfgang Jungraithmayr, M.D., Ph.D.^{2,4}

[#] These authors contributed equally to the study.

¹Division of Plastic and Hand Surgery, University Hospital Zurich, Switzerland

²Division of Thoracic Surgery, University Hospital Zurich, Switzerland

³Institute for Chemical and Bioengineering, Department of Chemistry and Applied Biosciences, ETH Zurich, CH-8093 Zurich, Switzerland

⁴Department of Thoracic Surgery, University Hospital Rostock, Rostock, Germany

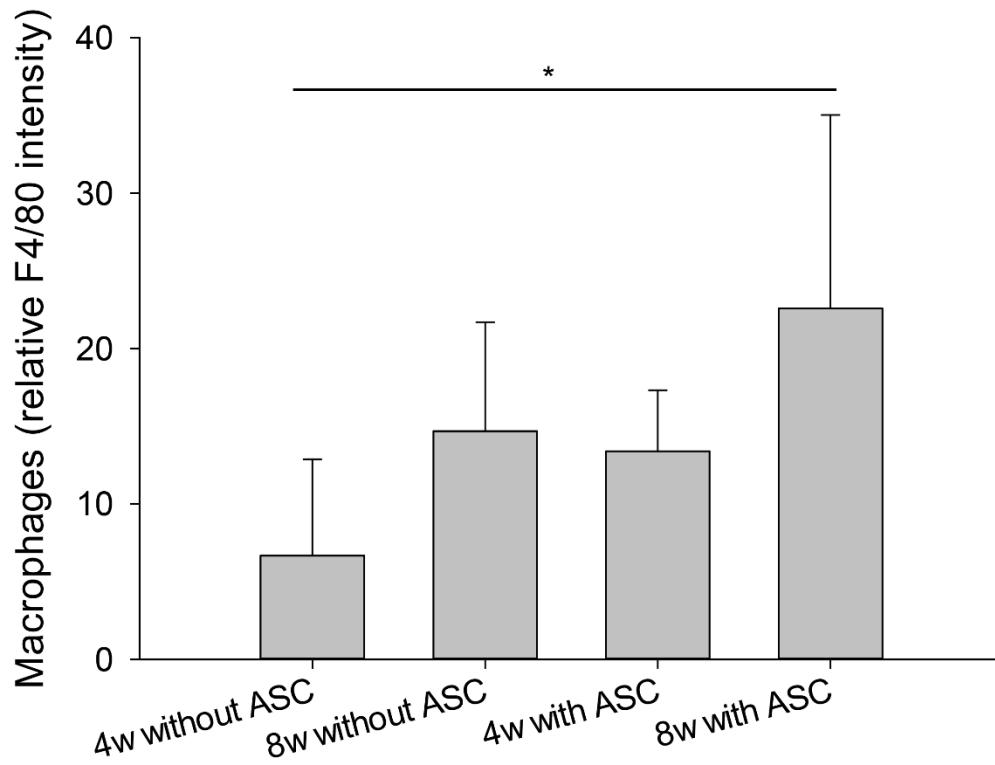

Figure S1: Inflammatory response: macrophages. Percentage of F4/80+ macrophages as compared to total cell densities. Key: 4w = 4 weeks; 8w = 8 weeks.