

Fig. S5. Changes in cellular composition due to Etanercept treatment. Comparison of the abundance of various cell types in the lesional and non-lesional skin of patients with psoriasis before, during, and after treatment. Expression data from dataset GSE47751 was used for this analysis. The p-values of each comparison are presented above each box in the boxplots.