Fig S1. Clustering of samples based on principal component analysis (PCA). Samples collected from warm (W) and cold (C) temperature treatments from two different lines, early (E) and late (L), from three different time points and from three different tissues: a. hypothalamus, b. liver and c. ovary.