

Supplementary Figure 1. Bland-Altman plots comparing foveal thickness (A) and choroidal thickness (B) measurements by two operators. The differences between the two measurements are plotted as a function of the average of the two measurements. The horizontal dashed lines represent the mean of the differences (bias) and horizontal dotted lines represent the 95% confidence intervals of the differences.