

Video S1. 2x stocks are made for peptide (dissolved in water) and protein (in 2x HBS buffer), and then chilled on ice. After mixing, the sample is then heated at 37 °C to initiate gelation. No free-flowing solution is present after the gel is formed, indicating that all of the protein is encapsulated within the gel.