

Data Sharing Statement

Burgio. Effectiveness of Combined Behavioral and Drug Therapy for Overactive Bladder Symptoms in Men. JAMA Intern Med. Published January 13, 2020. 10.1001/jamainternmed.2019.6398

Data

Data available: Yes

Data types: Deidentified participant data

How to access data: Investigators may contact the lead author to propose an analysis and coordinate the process of submitting a proposal and preparing the data use agreement (kburgio@uabmc.edu).

When available: beginning date: 07-01-2020

Supporting Documents

Document types: None

Additional Information

Who can access the data: Data will be available to investigators who provide an IRB/Ethics approval or certification of exemption from IRB/Ethics review, and agree to the terms and conditions of a data use agreement.

Types of analyses: Any purpose for which investigators provide an IRB/Ethics approval or certification of exemption from IRB/Ethics review.

Mechanisms of data availability: Some support may be needed, depending on the extent of the request. IRB/Ethics approval or certification of exemption from IRB/Ethics review will be required. Signed data use agreement will be required.