Supplemental Figure S2. GC-coverage plot for the human samples. Normalized coverage is a relative measure of sequence coverage by the reads at a particular GC content. For x-axis, human genome sequence is divided into bins or windows based on the percentage of G + C content ranging from 0 - 100%.