

Supplementary data

Chemical composition, anti-/pro-oxidant activity of apple peel extracts - environmental friendly source of bioactive compounds with possible application in agricultural, food and pharmaceutical industries

Monika Kalinowska^{a*}, Kamila Gryko^a, Anna M. Wróblewska^b, Agata Jabłońska-Trypuć^a, Danuta Karpowicz^a

^a Department of Chemistry, Biology and Biotechnology, Białystok University of Technology, Wiejska 45A, 15-351 Białystok, Poland

^b Faculty of Chemistry, Warsaw University of Technology, Noakowskiego 3, 00-664 Warsaw, Poland

* CONTACT: Monika Kalinowska, e-mail: m.kalinowska@pb.edu.pl; address: Department of Chemistry, Biology and Biotechnology, Białystok University of Technology, Białystok, Poland

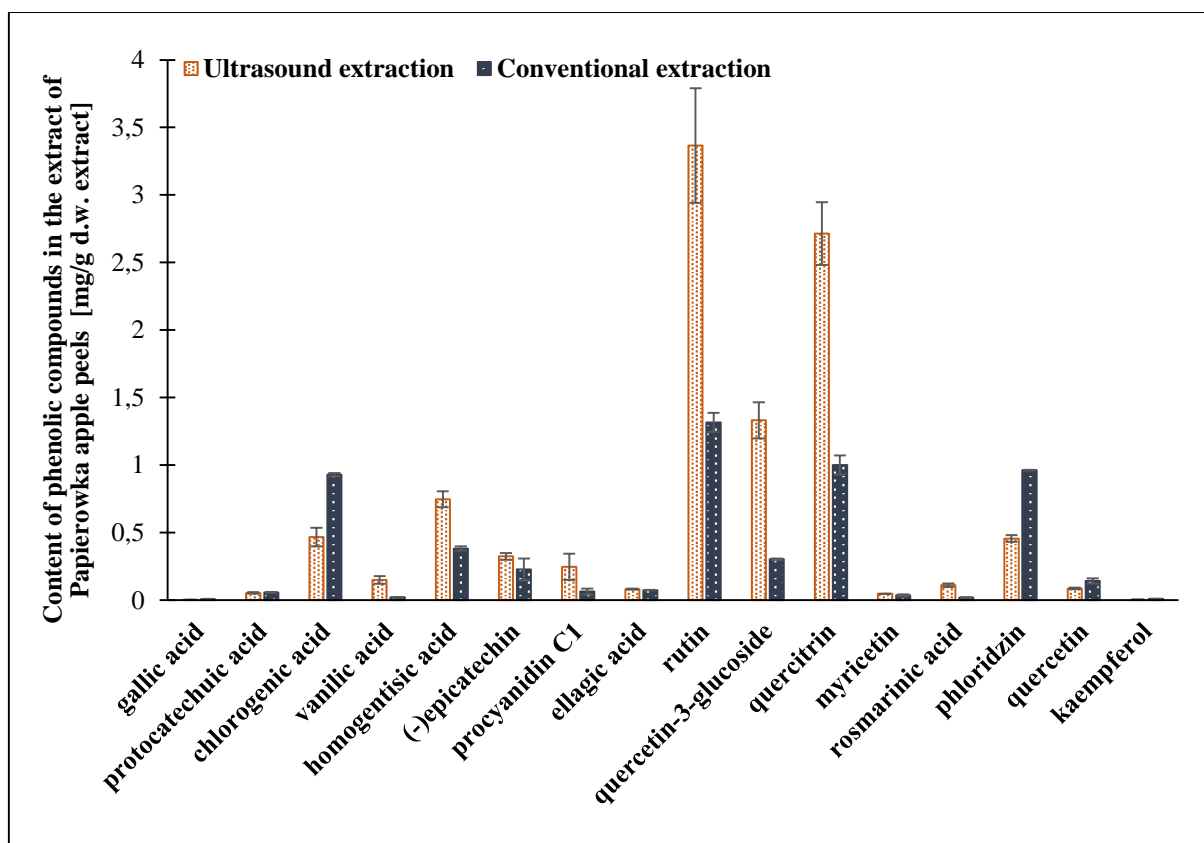

Figure S1. The content of particular phenolic compounds in Papierowka apple peel extract. Mean values from three independent experiments \pm SD are shown.

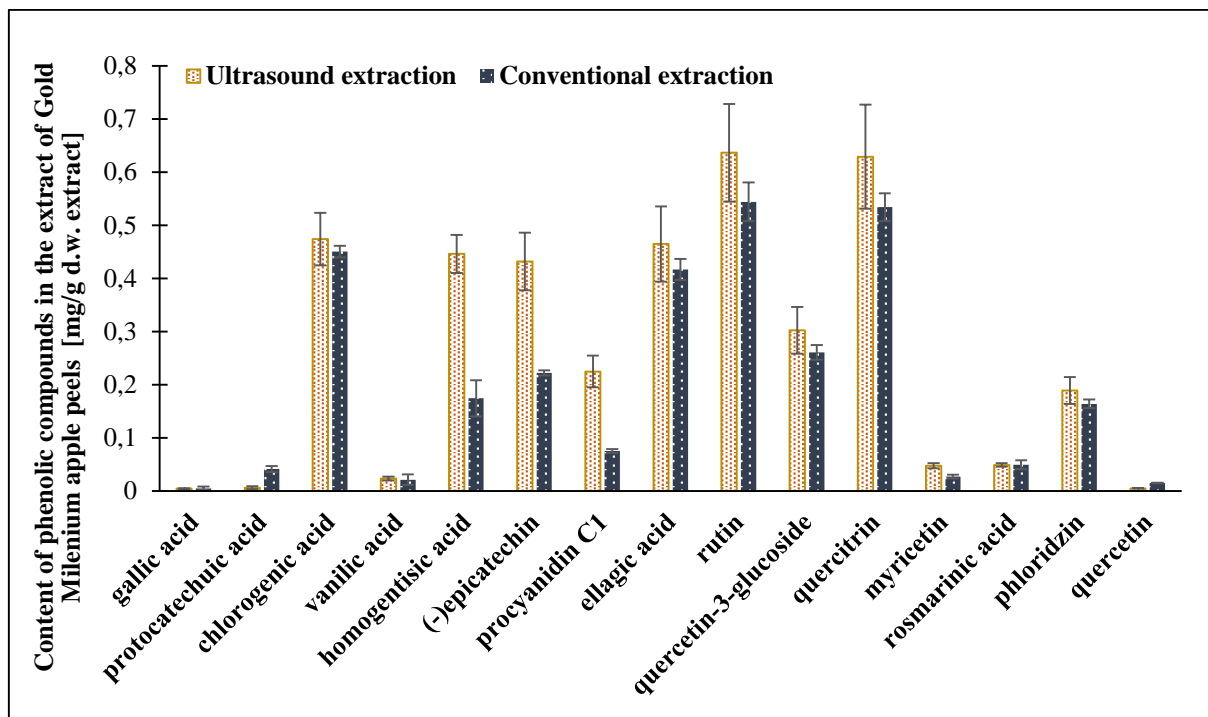

Figure S2. The content of particular phenolic compounds in Gold Milenium apple peel extract. Mean values from three independent experiments \pm SD are shown.