

Supplementary Information for:

Single cell mutation analysis of clonal evolution in myeloid malignancies

Authors: Linde A. Miles^{1*}; Robert L. Bowman^{1*}; Tiffany R. Merlinsky¹; Isabelle S. Csete¹; Aik T. Ooi², Robert Durruthy-Durruthy², Michael Bowman³, Christopher Famulare⁴; Minal A. Patel⁴, Pedro Mendez², Chrysanthi Ainali², Benjamin Demaree^{5,6}, Cyrille L. Delley⁵, Adam R. Abate^{5,6,7}, Manimozhi Manivannan², Sombeet Sahu², Aaron D. Goldberg^{4,8}, Kelly L. Bolton^{4,8}, Ahmet Zehir⁹, Raajit Rampal^{4,8}, Martin P. Carroll¹⁰; Sara E. Meyer¹¹; Aaron D. Viny^{1,4,8}; Ross L. Levine^{1,4,8*}

Affiliations:

¹Human Oncology & Pathogenesis Program, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, New York, USA;

² Mission Bio, South San Francisco, USA;

³ Department of Mechanical Engineering, Colorado School of Mines, Golden, CO, USA;

⁴ Center for Hematologic Malignancies, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, New York, USA

⁵Department of Bioengineering and Therapeutic Sciences, University of California, San Francisco USA;

⁶UC-Berkeley-UCSF Graduate Program in Bioengineering, University of California, San Francisco USA;

⁷Chan Zuckerberg Biohub, San Francisco USA;

⁸Department of Medicine, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, New York USA;

⁹Department of Pathology, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, New York, USA;

Table of Contents

1) Supplementary Table 1. Amplicon Coverage for Custom Mission Bio single cell DNA sequencing panel. Each amplicon is listed with genomic location (hg19) and gene name.

2) Supplementary Table 2. Sample characteristics from clinical cohort. Patient information from date of sample collection and sample characteristics for each sample are denoted.

3) Supplementary Discussion