

Sustained, local delivery of the PARP inhibitor talazoparib prevents the development of mammary gland hyperplasia in Brca1-deficient mice

Di Zhang^{1*}, Bijay Singh^{2,3*}, Jessica Moerland¹, Owen Mitchell¹, Lizbeth Lockwood¹, Sarah Carapellucci¹, Srinivas Sridhar^{2,3}, Karen T. Liby¹

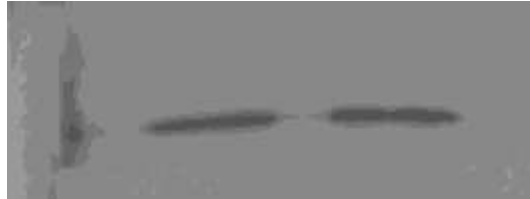

Authors' affiliations: ¹Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI; ²Theranano LLC, Newton, MA; ³Northeastern University, Boston, MA.

* These authors contributed equally to this work.

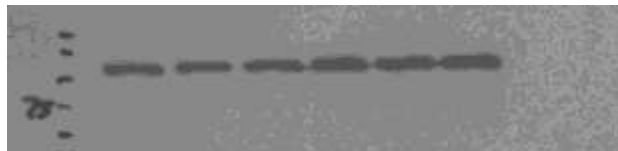

Exposure of γ H2AX and Vinculin

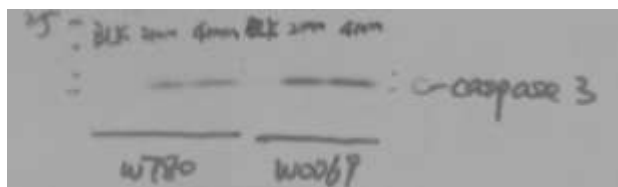

Longer exposure of γ H2AX

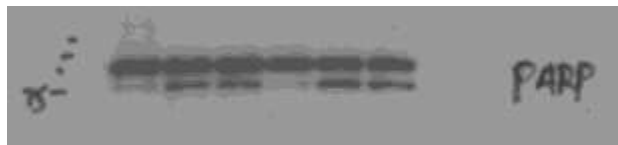

Shorter exposure of Vinculin

Exposure of c-caspase 3

Exposure of PARP and cleaved-PARP

Exposure of Cyclin D1

InCoY-22
15 - 100 - 400 - 800 - 1600 - 3200
- - - - - Caspase 3

1700 1000

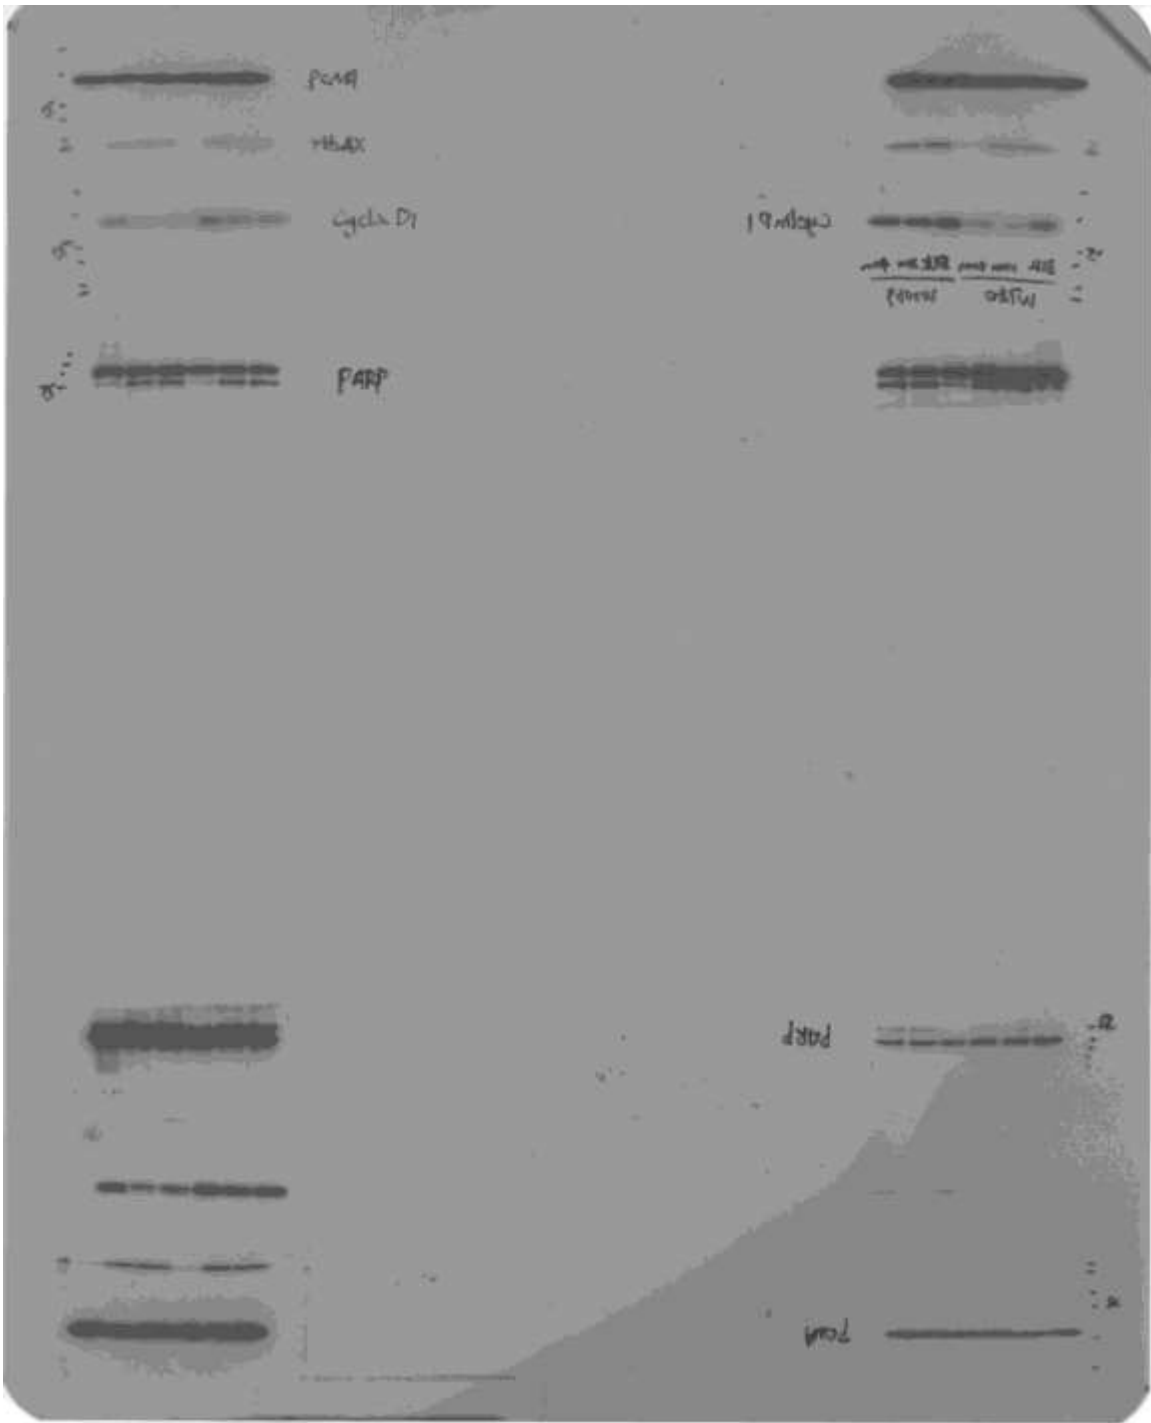

1000 - - - - - 1500

1000
1500

1700 1000

1000 - - - - - 1500

Suppl. Fig.1: Immunoblots used in Fig.2A.