

10-hydroxy-2E-decenoic acid (10HDA) does not promote caste differentiation in Melipona scutellaris stingless bees

Luiza Diniz Ferreira Borges<sup>1*</sup>, Letícia Leandro Batista<sup>1</sup>, Serena Mares Malta<sup>1</sup>, Tamiris Sabrina Rodrigues<sup>1</sup>, Jéssica Regina da Costa Silva<sup>1</sup>, Gabriela Venturini<sup>2</sup>, Alexandre da Costa Pereira<sup>2</sup>, Pedro Henrique Gonçalves Guedes<sup>1</sup>, Carlos Ueira-Vieira<sup>1</sup>, Ana Maria Bonetti<sup>1*</sup>

Supplementary Figure S1: Significance Analysis of Microarrays (SAM) of metabolites of Melipona scutellaris larvae. SAM shows 45 significant metabolites tentatively identified in the larvae. These are presented in Supplementary Table S2. FDR = false discovery rate.

Supplementary Figure S2: Metabolites of Melipona scutellaris larval food.

Venn diagram of shared metabolites between larval food samples.

