Supplemental Figure 1. Directed acyclic graph representing working knowledge of factors linking self-reported racial discrimination and telomere length in Black women. Depression, health behaviors, and body mass index were identified as mediators (blue circles). Therefore, models were adjusted for confounders (red circles): socioeconomic status, age, marital status, and perceived stress. (Generated using http://www.dagitty.net/.)