PrEP SECTION

READ: INTERVIEWER READ TO THE RESPONDENT:

Pre-exposure prophylaxis or PrEP is a medicine people at risk for HIV take to prevent getting HIV from sex or injection drug use. When taken daily as prescribed, PrEP works very well to prevent HIV. PrEP is not yet widely available in Mexico, but it has been available in the US for several years. PrEP is safe, but some people experience side effects like diarrhea, nausea, and headaches. These side effects usually go away with time. PrEP does not protect against other sexually transmitted infections (STIs), so it is important to also use condoms while taking PrEP. Because PrEP does not treat HIV, it is also important to see a doctor every three months for HIV/STI testing and other laboratory tests to make sure everything is OK.

SECCION PrEP

LEA: ENTREVISTADOR LEA EN VOZ ALTA:

La profilaxis antes de la exposición o PrEP es una medicina que las personas en riesgo de infectarse con el VIH por relaciones sexuales o uso de drogas inyectables. Cuando la medicina se toma a diario como se la ha recetado, el PrEP funciona muy bien para prevenir la infección por VIH. El PrEP aún no está disponible ampliamente en México, pero si está disponible en EUA desde hace varios años ya. El PrEP es seguro, pero algunas personas tienen efectos secundarios como diarrea, náuseas y Dolores de cabeza. Estos efectos secundarios usualmente se desaparecen gradualmente con el tiempo. El PrEP no protege contra otras infecciones de transmisión sexual (ITSs), por lo que es importante que también siga usando condones cuando está tomando PrEP. Como el PrEP no trata la infección de VIH, es también muy importante que vea a un doctor cada tres meses para hacerse las pruebas para VIH y otras ITSs cada tres meses y otros exámenes de laboratorio para asegurarse que todo está bien con su salud.

Cuando decimos usar protección nos referimos a usar un condón de hombre o uno de mujer o una barrera para prevenir el contacto de fluidos corporales durante la actividad sexual.*

Q404. In the next section, you will be asked to list the names of people in your social network, along with questions about them such as your relationship to them, and the sexual and drug use practices of these people who are not in the study (i.e. they have not provided consent). This information is very important for improving disease prevention strategies to reduce HIV transmission in communities. However, there is a possibility that your sharing of information about members of your social network without their consent will become known to them and/or the community through speculation. We would like to assure you that we will never contact anyone you name during the survey under any circumstance, and we will never share this information with anyone outside of the people working on this study. The information you share with us is private and confidential, and we will make every effort to safeguard such information from unauthorized access or dissemination. If you feel uncomfortable about providing names, you may provide nicknames or initials instead, or opt out of individual questions. Do we have your consent to proceed to these questions?

CoV-2 SOCIAL NETWORK COMPONENT

READ: Now we are going to switch gears and talk about more recent times that you have spent time with other people. As before, we are trying to learn about how people are connected to one another and how those connections relate to preventing diseases, but now we will focus on CoV-2 infection. Having names and demographic information will help us see how people in this study are connected to one another, for example through mutual friends.

Please keep in mind that everything you tell me is confidential and that we will protect your privacy and the privacy of the people you mention. We will never at any time use this information to contact the people you tell us about.

READ: Please think about the following types of people you've had close contact with in the past 14 days: romantic or sex partners or spouse; other family-relatives by blood or marriage; close friends; roommates; neighbors; work related (co-workers, bosses, customers); classmates; drug or alcohol related; people who provide you a service; others (e.g., people you saw at community groups, religious services, sports or exercise classes, school, etc.)

We are interested in people you've had either: In person, non-physical contact with (within 6ft) that lasted over an hour OR Physical contact with.

We'll start by first listing their names (first, last, nickname). Feel free to look through your phone to jog your memory. This is important. We will never share the names you provide us. Only the researchers will have access to these names.

Q686. Let's start with the people from the category Romantic or sex partners or spouse that you had close contact with in the past 14 days (again by close contact, we mean either: non-physical contact with (within 6ft) that lasted over an hour OR Physical contact). How many of them have you had contact with? Next, we'll list their names (up to 5 names may be listed).
