

eFigure 3.

Sensitivity analysis for the estimation of the conversion equation for predicting central subfield thickness (CST) values on a Spectralis machine from CST observed on a Cirrus machine when different random (70%) splits were used and when the full sample was used.