

eFigure 4.

Sensitivity analysis for the estimation of the conversion equation for predicting central subfield thickness (CST) values on a Cirrus machine from CST observed on a Spectralis machine when different random (70%) splits were used and when the full sample was used.