

Fig. SM 1

hTERT promotes the epithelial to mesenchymal transition and cell migration in A549 And H1299 (Figure 1).

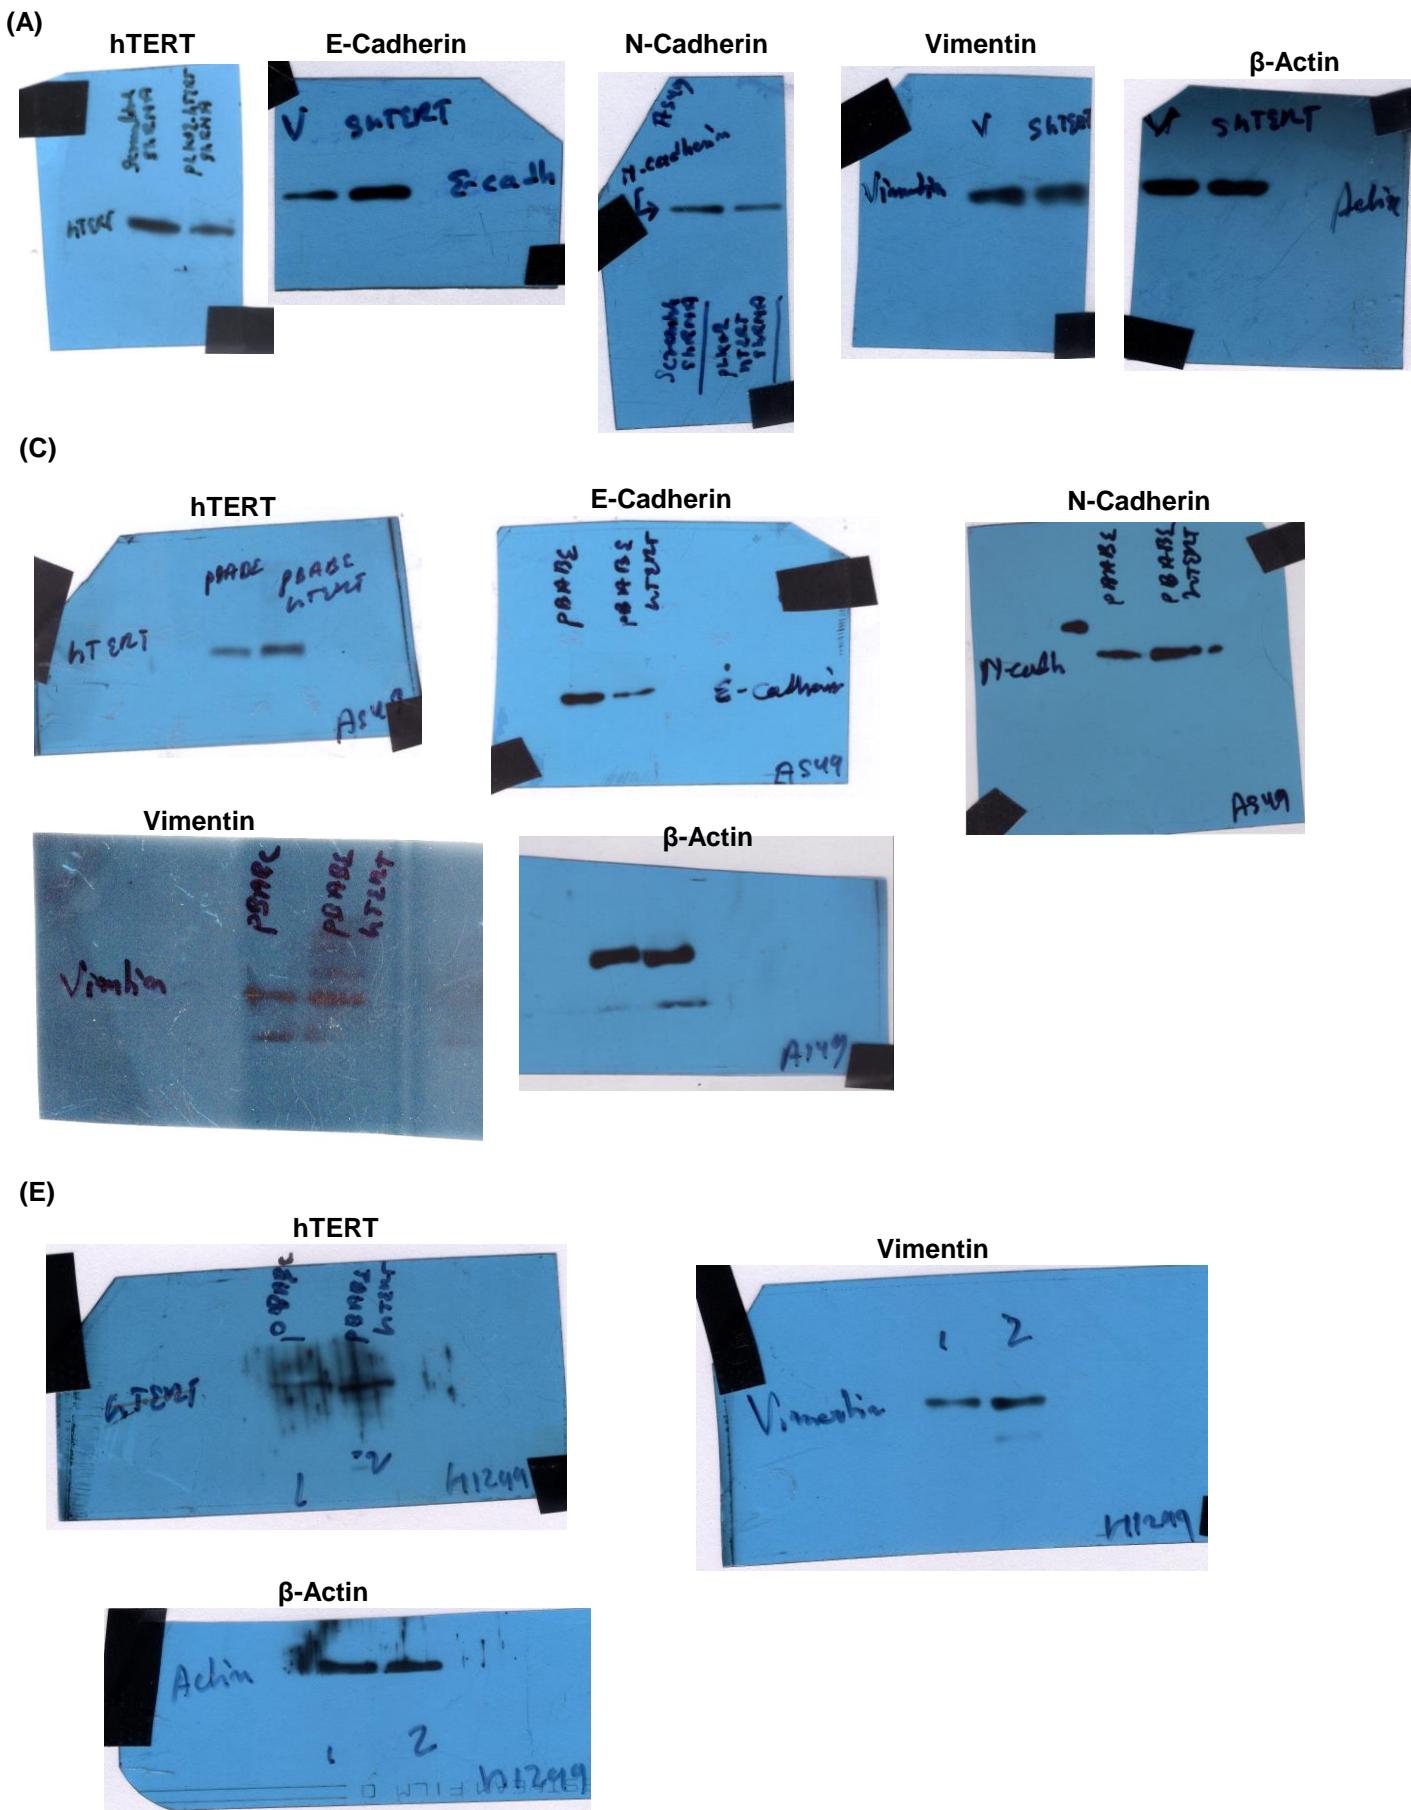

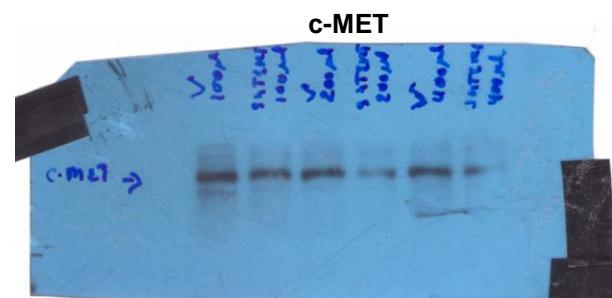

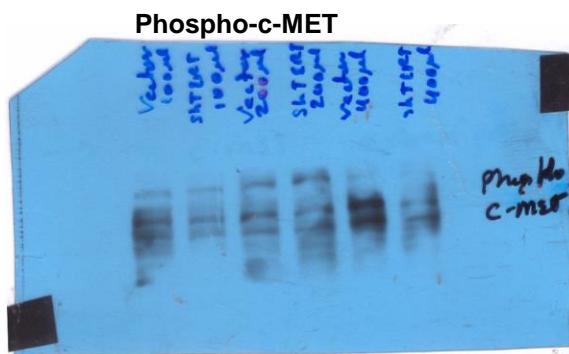

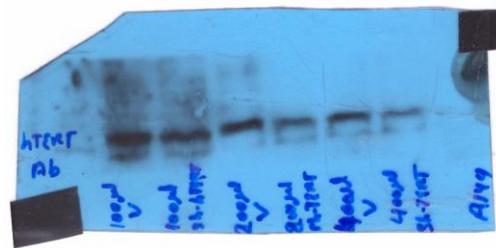

Fig. SM 2

c-MET expression is regulated by hTERT (Figure 2).

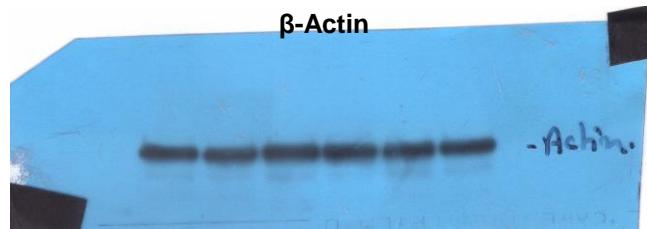

(A)

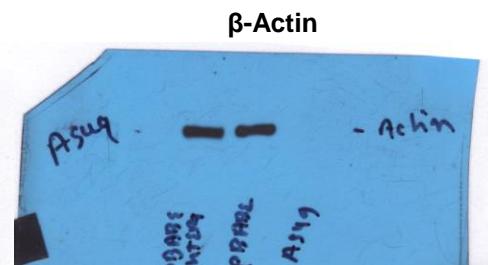

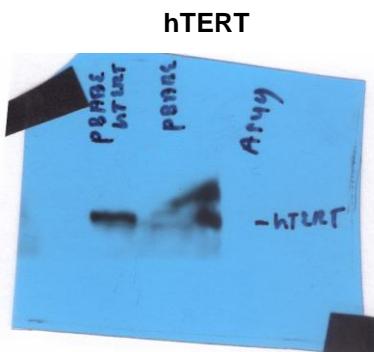

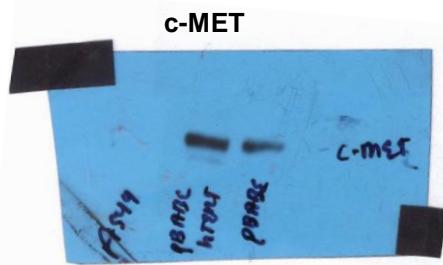

hTERT

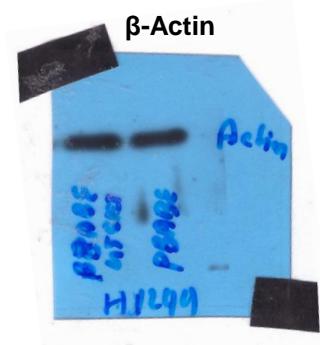

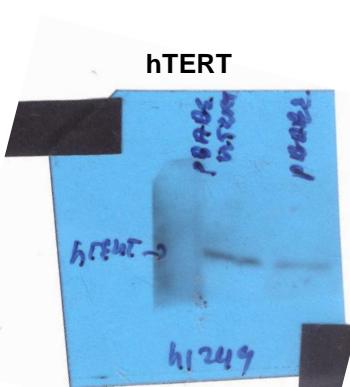

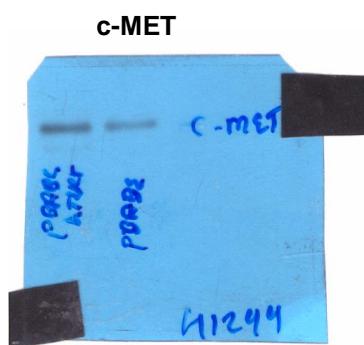

β-Actin

(C)

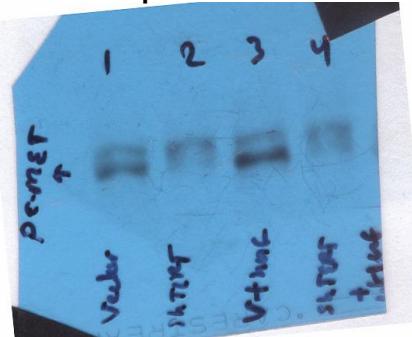

(D)

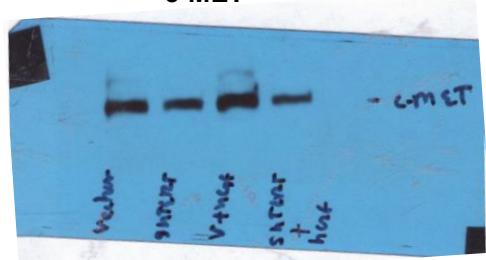

(F)

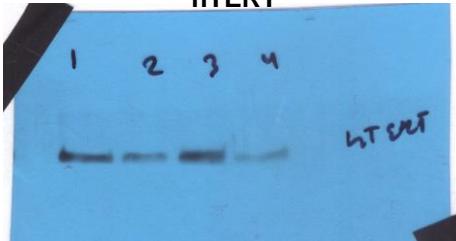

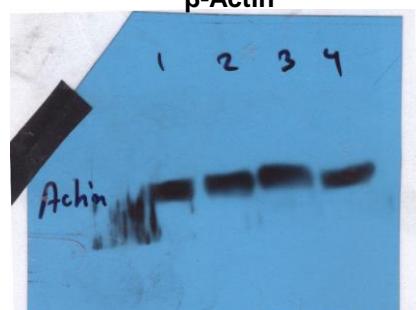

Phospho-c-MET

c-MET hTERT

 β -Actin

(G)

Phospho-c-MET

c-MET

hTERT

 β -Actin

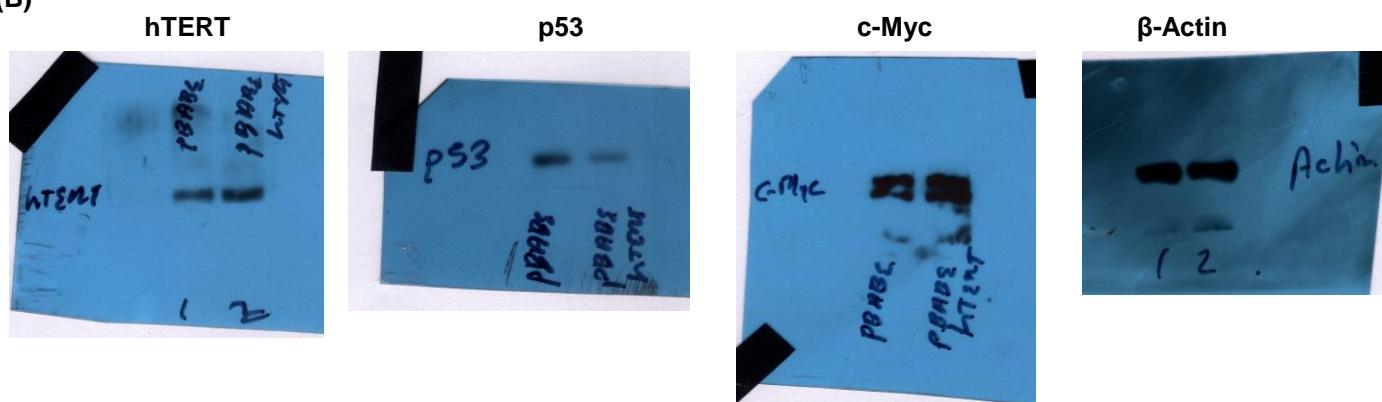

Fig. SM 3

p53 and c-Myc play a critical role in hTERT mediated regulation of c-MET expression (Figure 4).

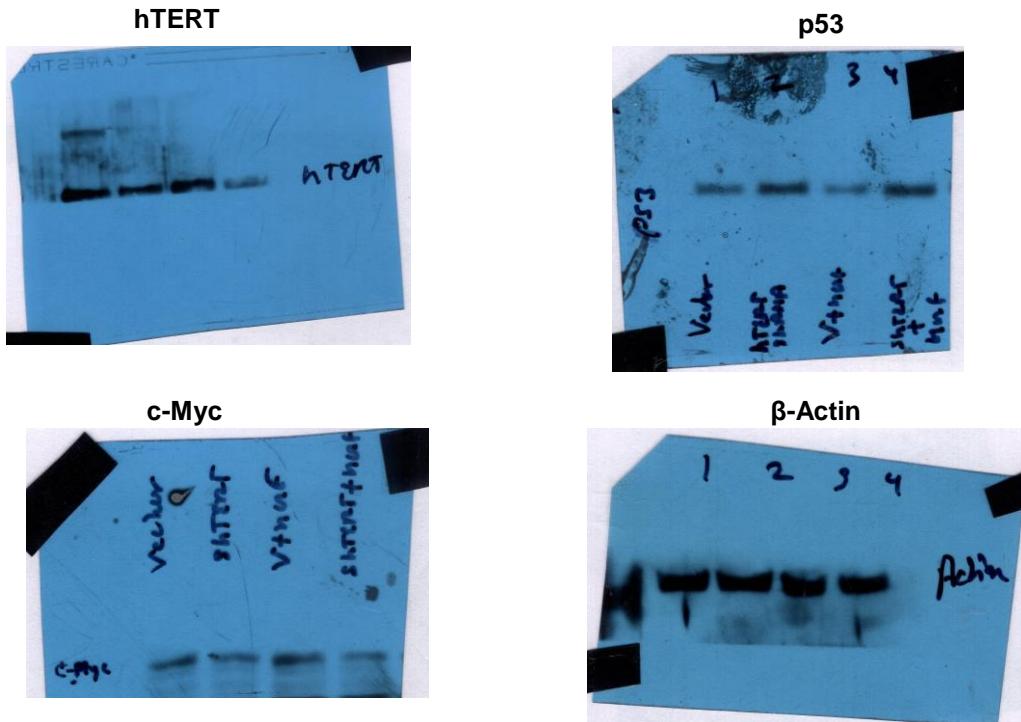

(A)

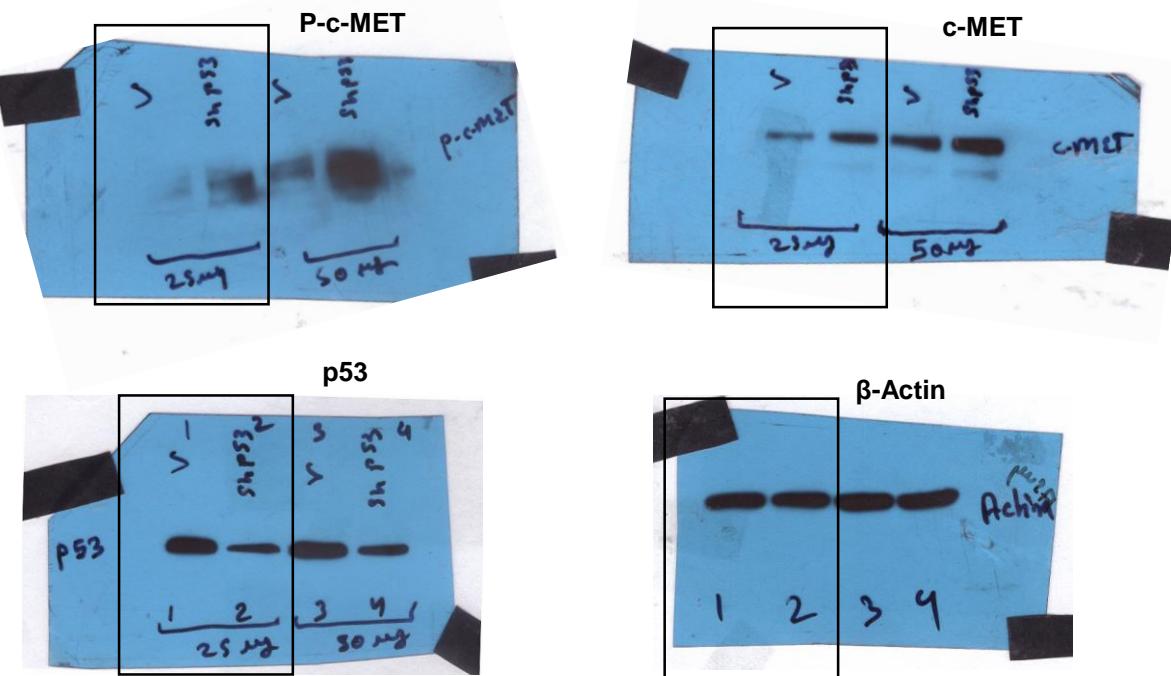

(B)

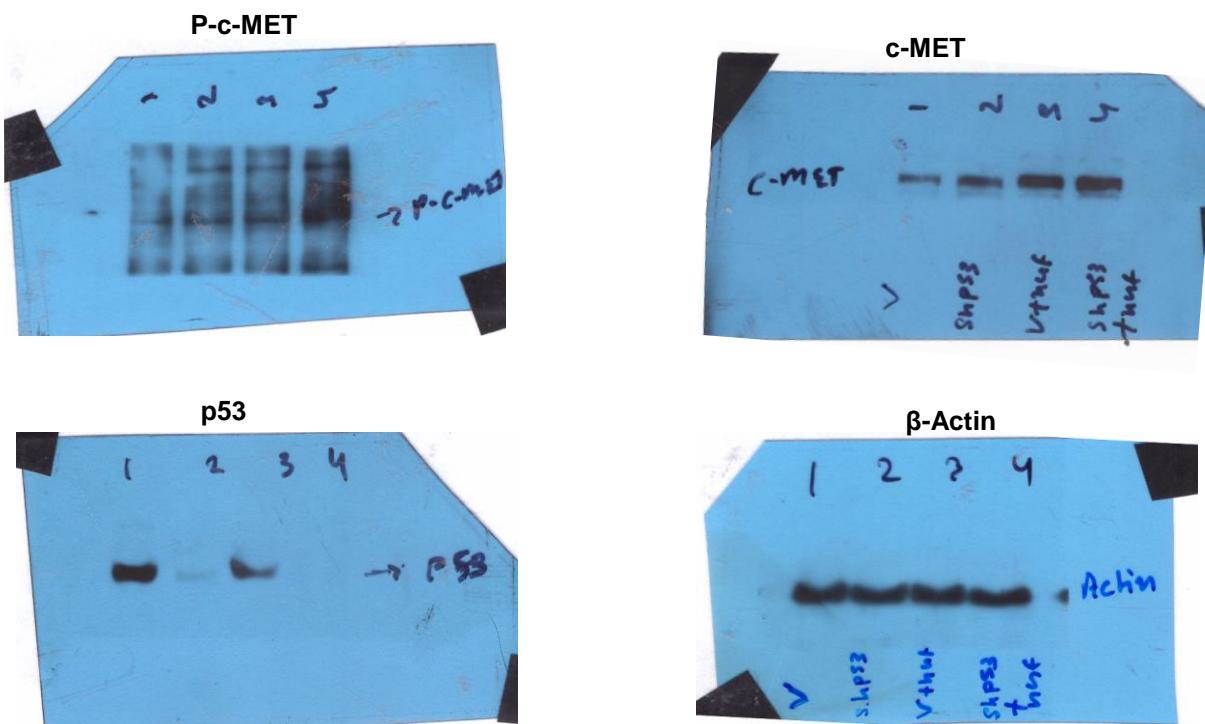

(C)

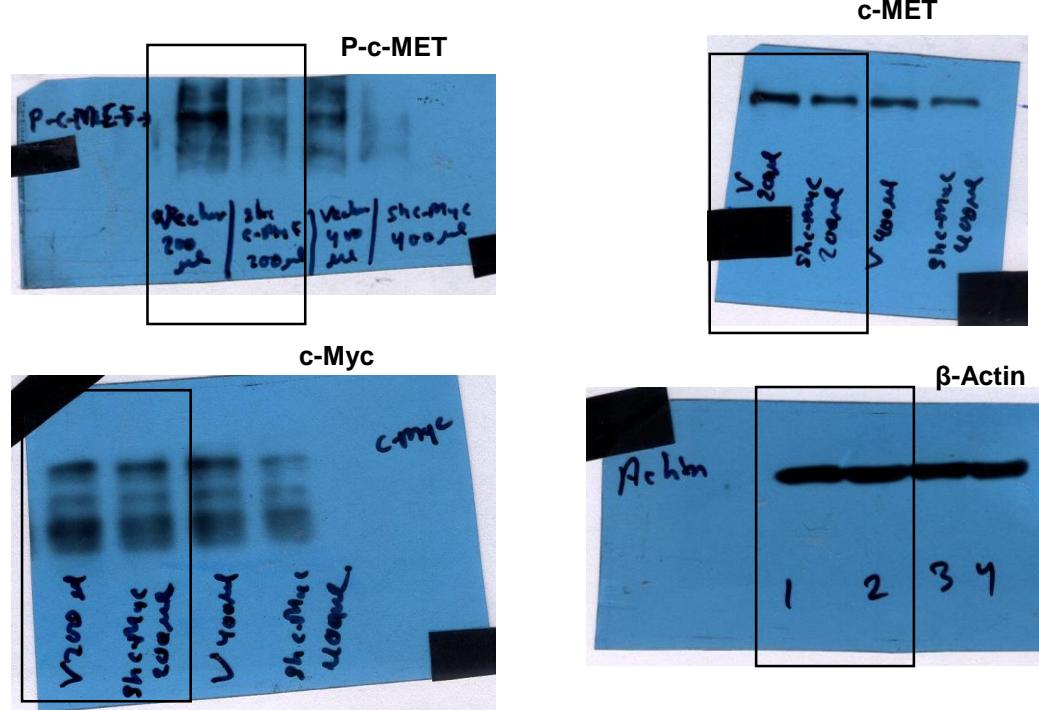

(D)

(E)

(F)

(G)

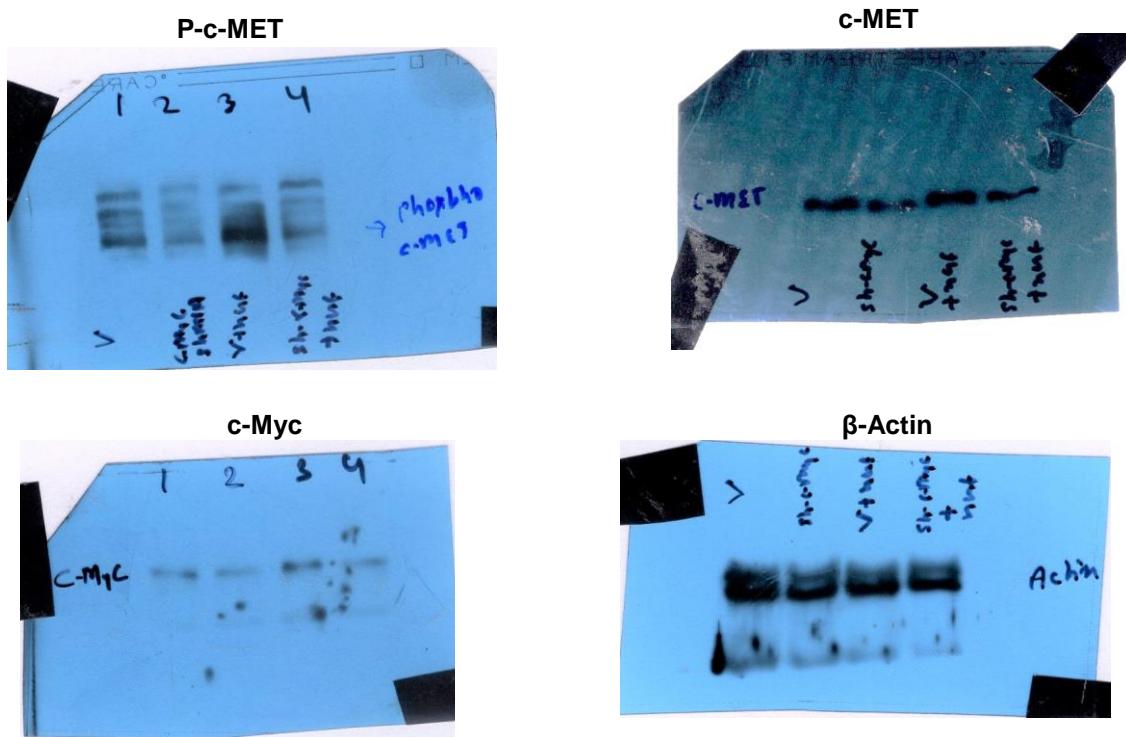

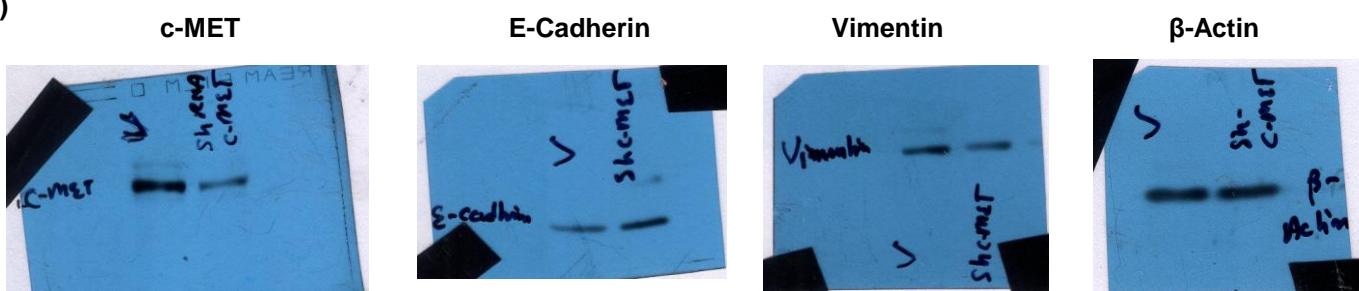

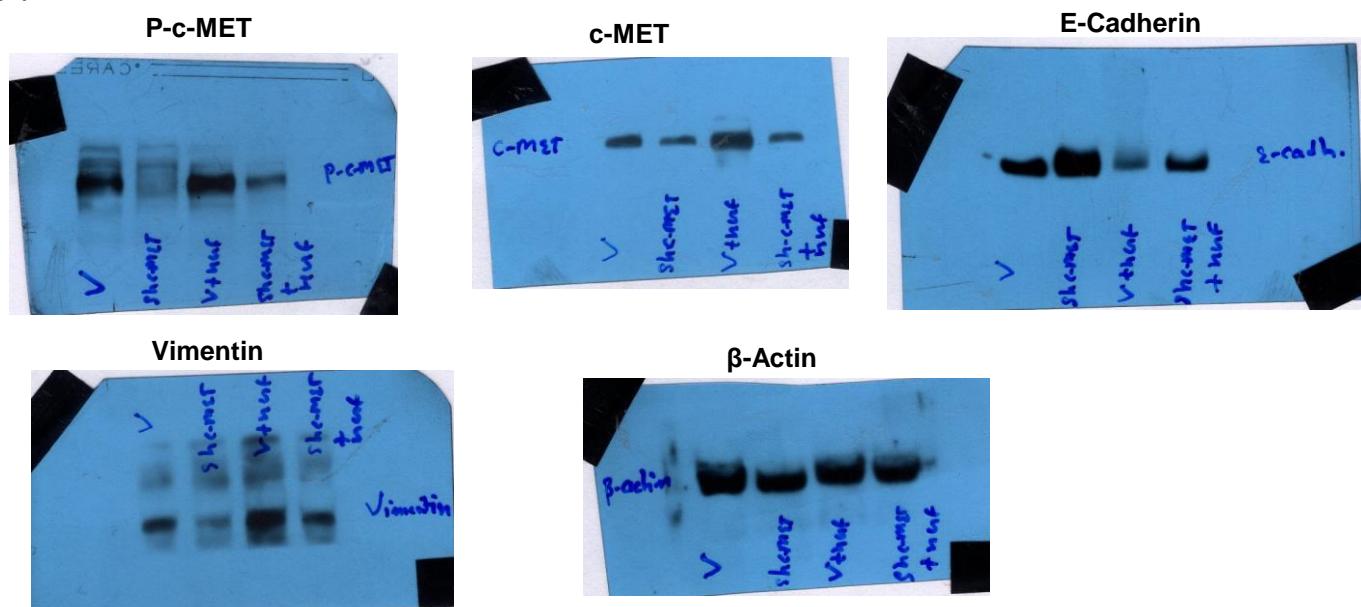

Fig. SM 4

c-MET induced EMT is positively associated with hTERT expression (Figure 5).

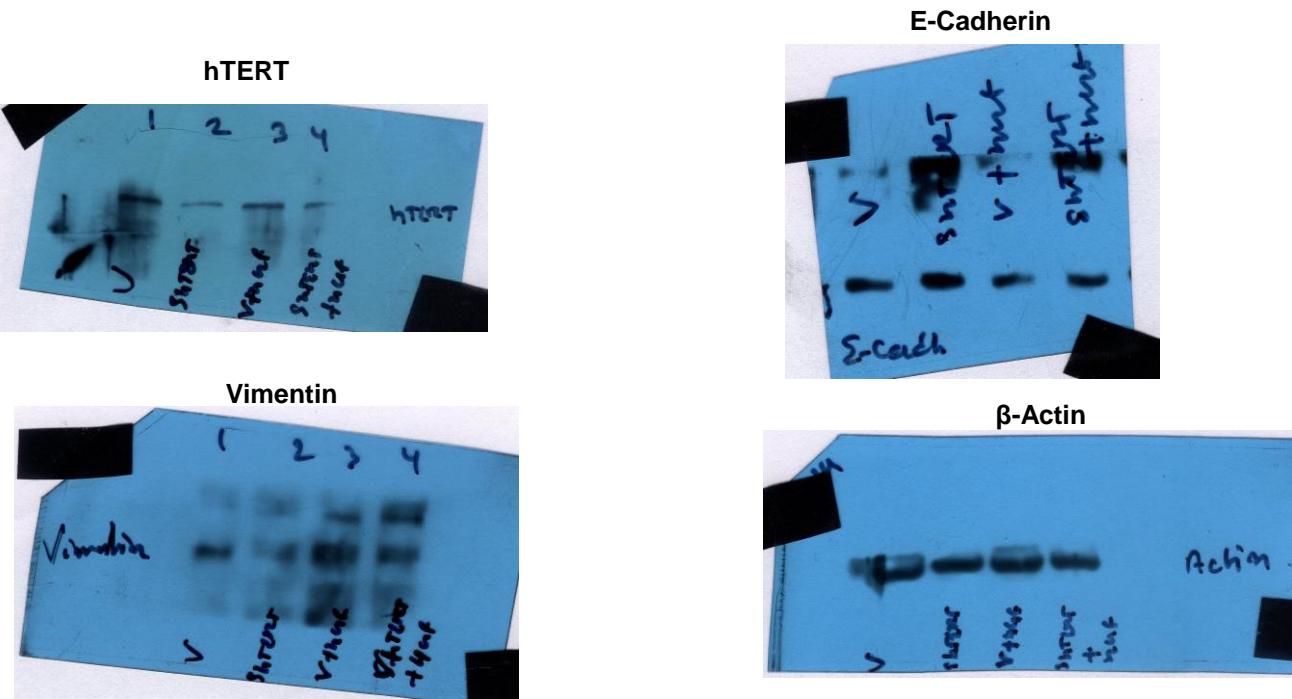

(A)

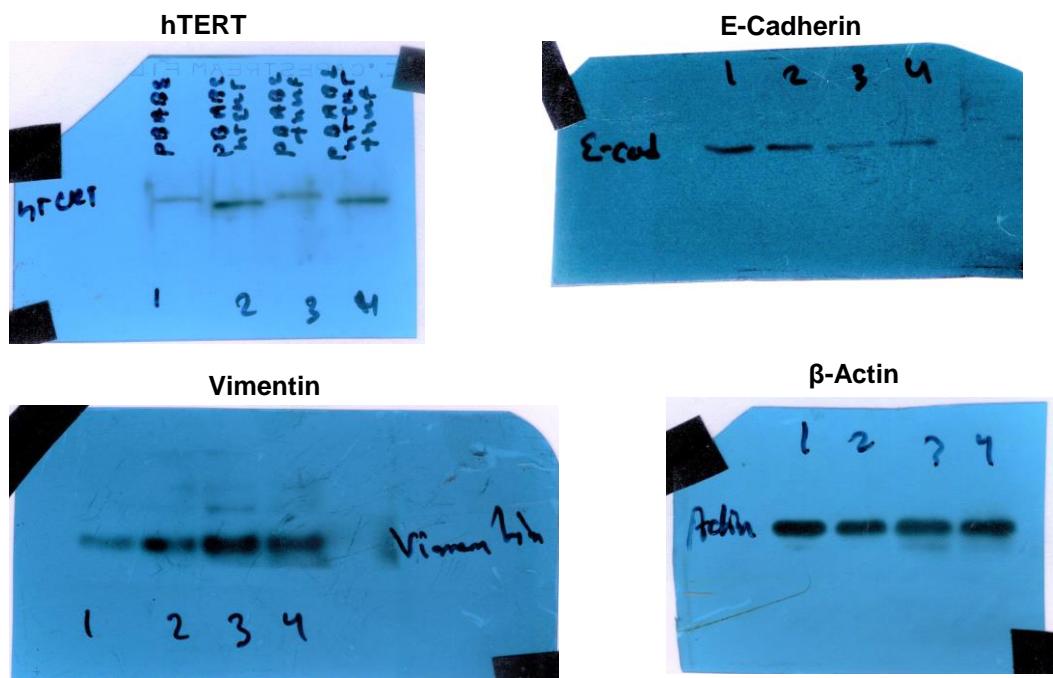

(B)

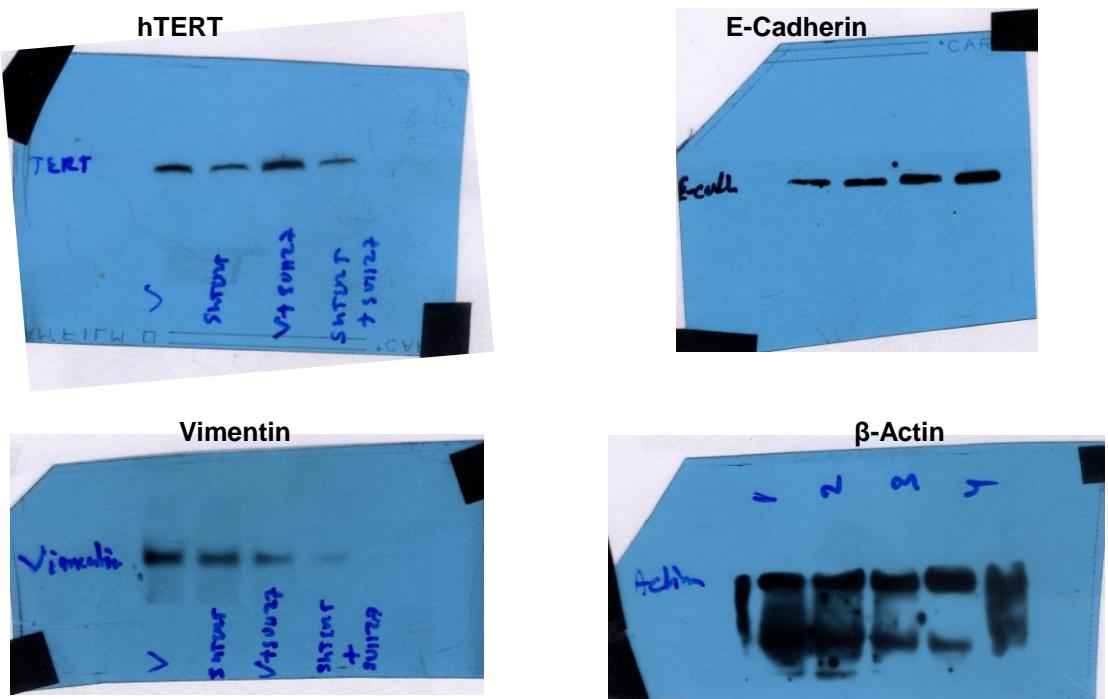

(C)

(E)

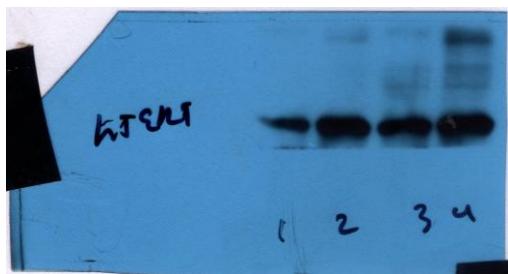

(F)

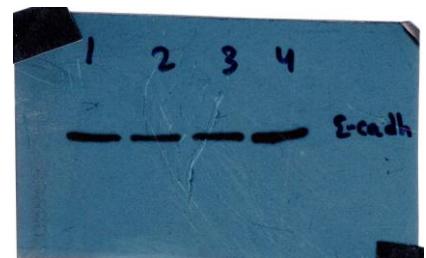

(G)

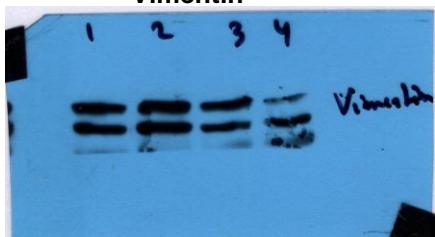

hTERT

E-cadherin

Vimentin

β -Actin

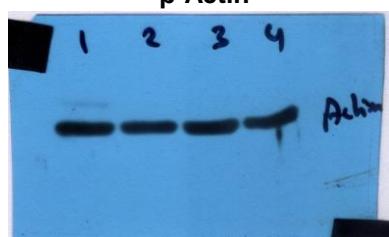

Fig. SM 5

SU11274 treatment in A549 cells reduced the expression of c-MET expression (Supplementary Figure 2).

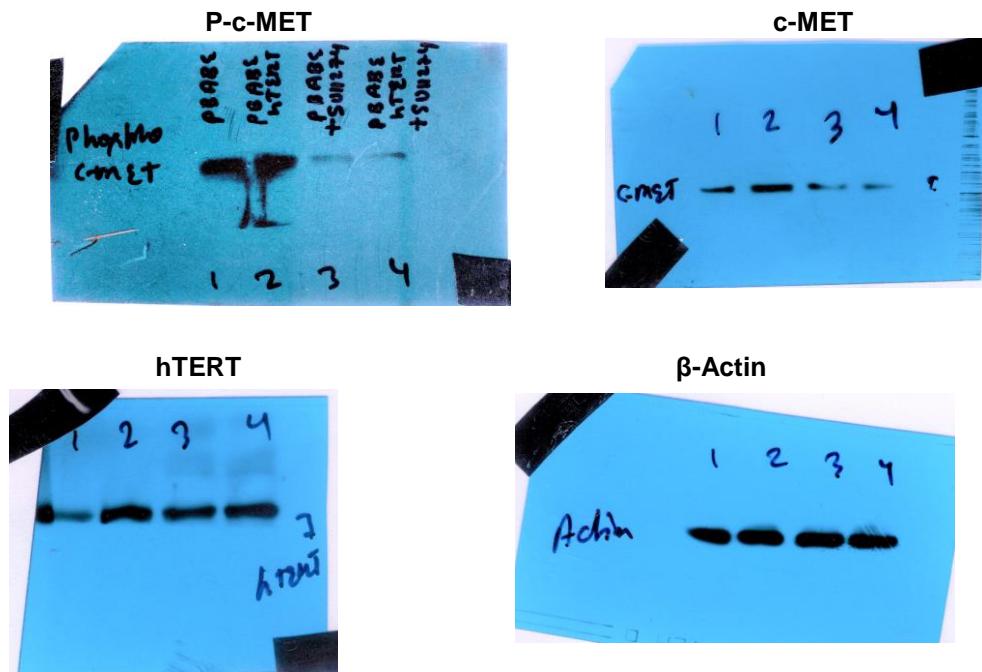

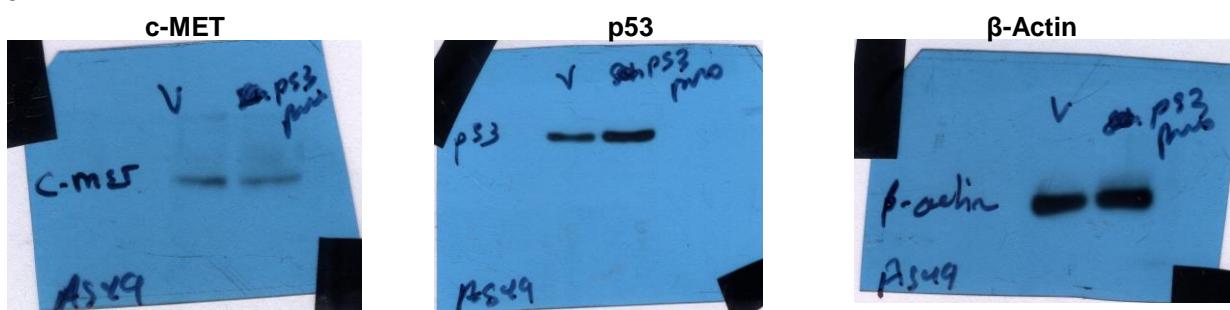

Fig. SM 6

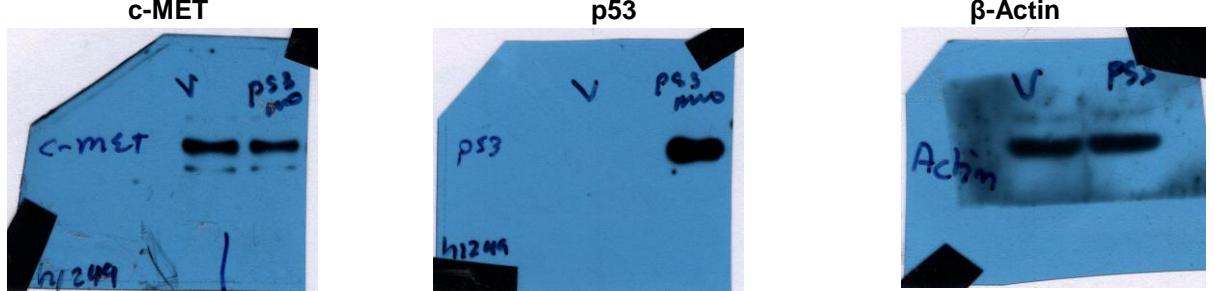

p53 and c-Myc expression is associated with c-MET expression in cancer cells (Supplementary Figure 3).

(A)

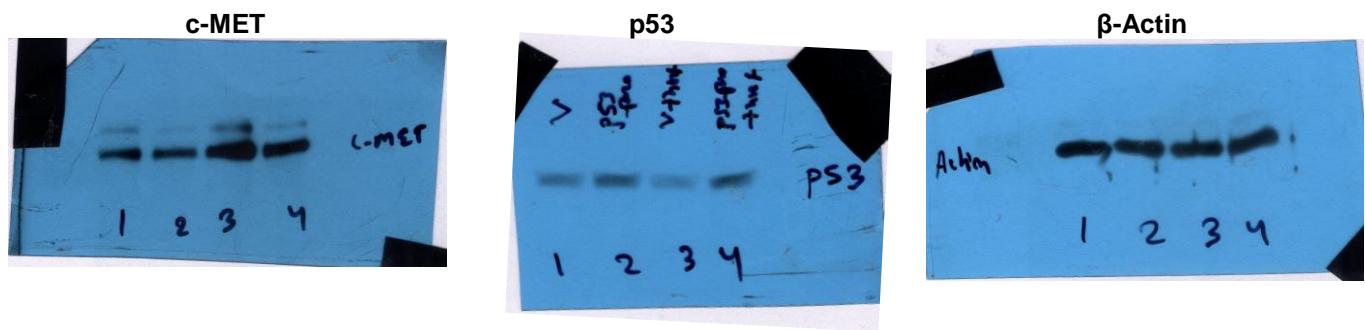

A549

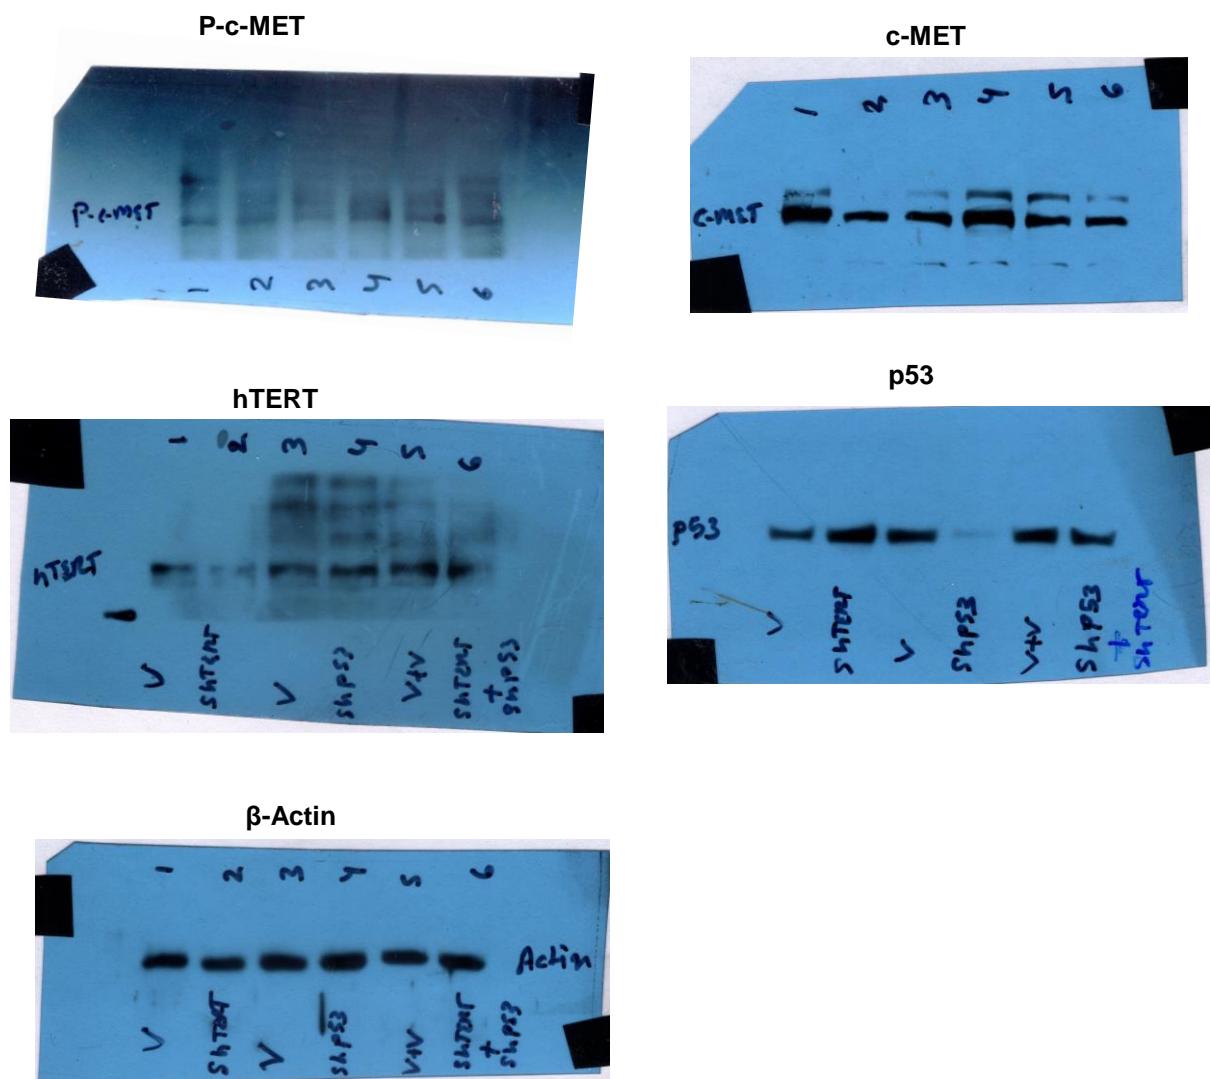

H1299

(B)

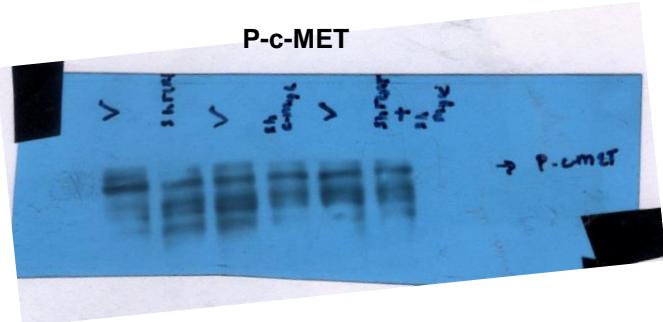

(C)

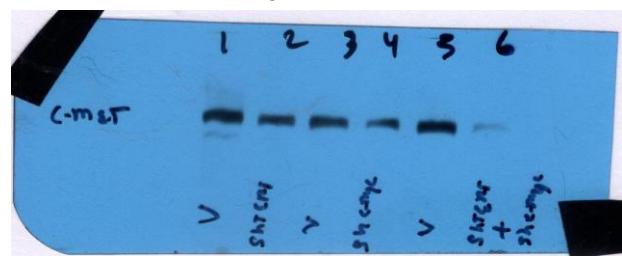

(D)

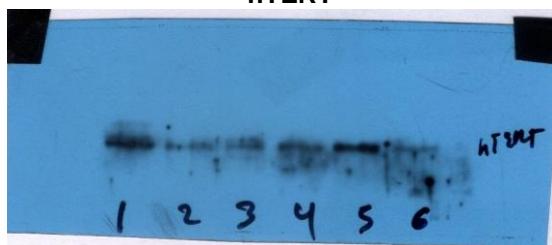

P-c-MET

c-MET hTERT c-Myc

β -Actin

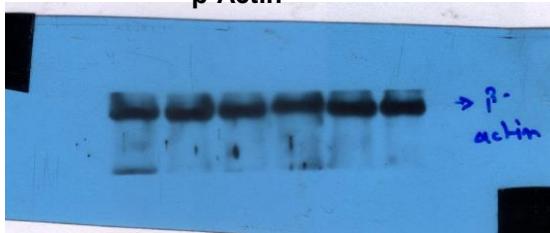

Fig. SM 7

c-MET activation is essential for hTERT mediated EMT (Supplementary Figure 4).

(B)

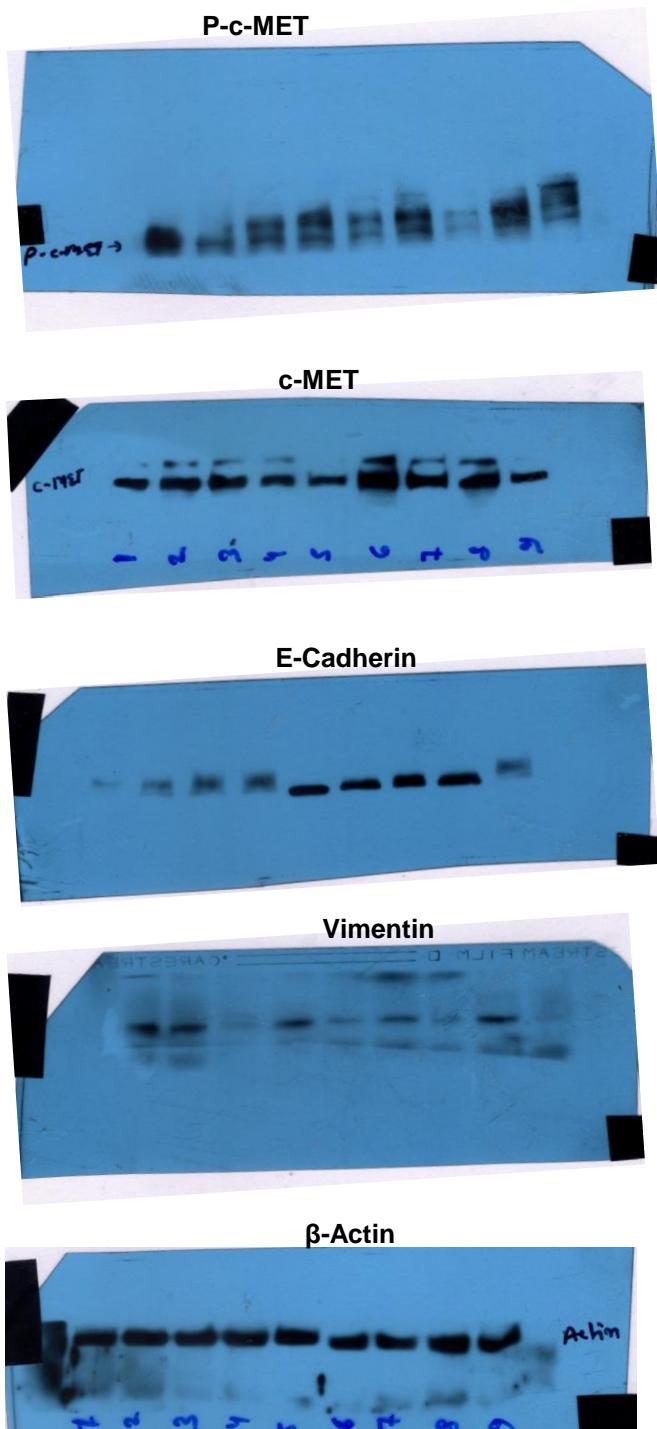

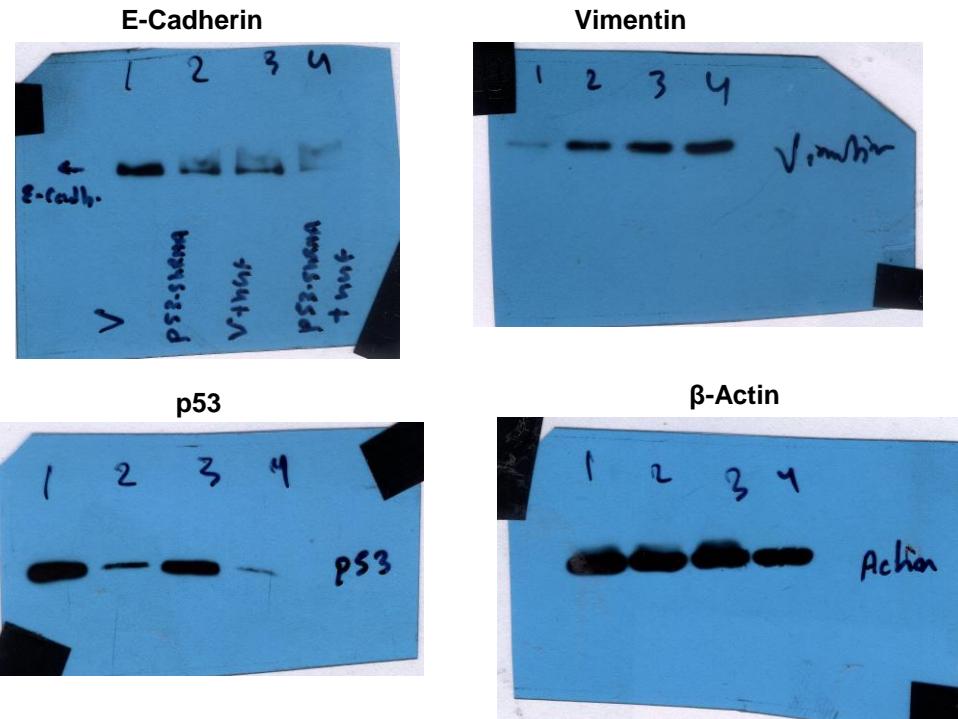

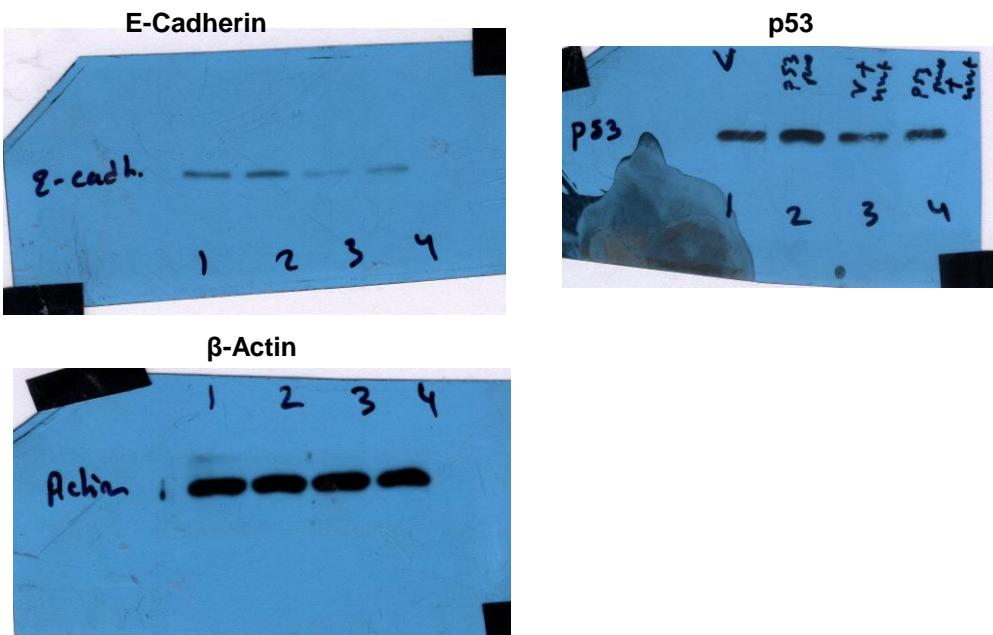

Fig. SM 8

p53 and c-Myc are associated with HGF/c-MET induced EMT (Supplementary Figure 5).

(A)

(C)

(E)

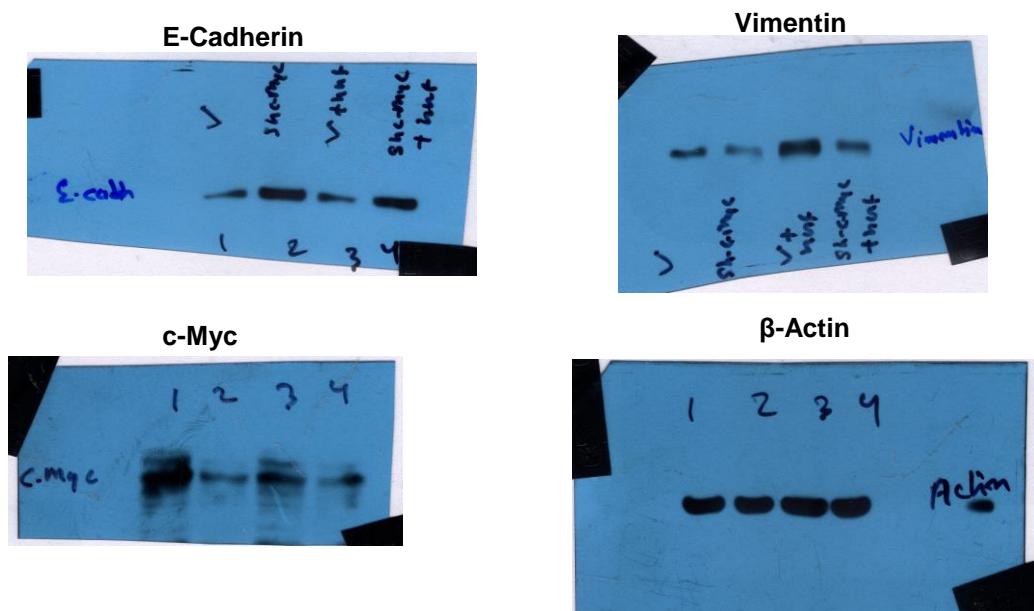

Fig. SM 9

Wild-type p53 works as suppressor protein for c-MET expression (Supplementary Figure 6).

(A)

