

Fig. S5: Gross tissue morphology 12 and 24 weeks post-VML. At 12 weeks post-implantation, gross tissue morphology suggests superior tissue regeneration at the VML injury site (white squares) in hydrogel groups compared to no repair injuries. Similarly, after 24 weeks hydrogel treated tissues appear to have increased muscle volume at the defect site (white squares).