

Supplementary Fig. 1. Example pages of the online application using predeveloped machine learning models. (A) Patient application. Patients can provide their baseline information along with daily symptoms and body temperature to the web-based application. (B) Physician application. Physicians can inspect their patients' daily status with calculated oxygen scores or intensive care unit scores, in detail.