eMethods. Survey Development Information

Throughout the development of the survey, members of the study team sought feedback from a convenience sample including undergraduate students. These individuals were asked to complete the survey multiple times to report on its comprehensibility (e.g., did they understand the questions) and mechanics (e.g., technical errors in the coding of the survey), as well as any omissions or redundancies in the survey.

We had several mechanisms in place through Qualtrics to prevent the survey from being completed by bots/survey screening programs. First, we prevented multiple submissions so participants could not take the survey multiple times. Second, we used Google's invisible reCaptcha as a bot detection technology; all participants included in the final sample had a reCaptcha score greater than .6 (A score of greater than or equal to 0.5 means the participants is likely a human. A score of less than 0.5 means the participants is likely a bot.). Third, we also enabled security scan monitor which prevents email security scanning software from accidentally starting surveys. Fourth, we blocked search engines from including our survey in their search results limiting access only to those who had been invited.

eAppendix. Full Study Survey

Start of Block: Introduction

consent Description of research by the investigator: The purpose of this research study is to learn more about people's experiences and attitudes towards COVID-19 and the COVID-19 vaccines, and about the impact that COVID-19 has had on our interactions with others.

Participation time: Participating in this study involves taking part in a single survey, which will take 5-10 minutes.

Risks: Any risks to you associated with this study are not expected to be greater than anything you encounter in your everyday life. Some of the questions may cause stress or emotional discomfort. You do not have to answer any questions you do not want to. All data collected for this study will be stored on a password-protected computer. The study team will not have access to your name or other identifying information. If there were a security breach to the study database, an unauthorized person could access your answers but not your name. This could result in a loss of privacy. The risk of this occurring is very low but is a possibility, nonetheless.

Benefits: You may not experience any direct benefit from being in this study. However, sharing your insight and experience will benefit care and wellbeing during this trying time and during other potential pandemics.

Conflict of interest: There are no conflicts of interest to report.

Confidentiality: This survey is being conducted online using the Qualtrics survey panel and the data will be stored and analyzed at the University of Utah and Middlesex Community College. The survey is optional and completely anonymous. No identifying information will be required.

Person to contact: If you have any questions, complaints or if you feel you have been harmed by this research please contact Angela Fagerlin, PhD, Professor and Chair of the Department of Population Health Sciences. 801-587-0049. Contact the Institutional Review Board (IRB) if you have questions regarding your rights as a research participant. Also, contact the IRB if you have questions, complaints or concerns which you do not feel you can discuss with the investigator. The University of Utah IRB may be reached by phone at (801) 581-3655 or by email at irb@hsc.utah.edu.

Costs to participants and compensation: Qualtrics will pay participants for completing each survey. It should take less than 20 minutes to complete the questionnaire. Participation in this study is voluntary. You can choose not to take part. You can choose not to answer any question you prefer not to answer, but you will only be paid for the survey if you submit it.

By completing this questionnaire, you are giving your consent to participate.

We appreciate your willingness to share your experience during the COVID-19 pandemic.
