

Association of Preoperative Imaging and Invasive Hemodynamic Measures with Outcomes Following Isolated Tricuspid Valve Surgery

Data derived from right heart catheterization, specifically right ventricular (RV) systolic and diastolic pressures, are associated with postoperative mortality and CHF following isolated tricuspid valve surgery (TVS)