Supplementary Figure 2 – Volcano plots illustrating differences in EV cargo after exercise in (A) typically developed (TD) and (B) cerebral palsy (CP) individuals. Each point on the scatter plot represents a microRNA where its position on the x-axis corresponds to the average log2-fold change after exercise. The position on the y-axis corresponds to log10 P value of its differential expression after adjustment for false discovery rate.