

Supplemental figure 2. Monthly counts of unique individuals with depressive disorders.

Prevalence of depression prior to the pandemic varied from approximately 40 per 100 000 person-months in Latvia, to 750 per 100 000 person-months in Norway. The rates in Sweden and Netherlands were 500 and 350 per 100 000 person-months, respectively.